Red Sox Rule 10-7 Favorites to Win World's Series

Bill Carrigan's Red Sox rule a 10 to 7 favorite over the Dodgers in the early World's Series betting in Boston. Many wagers were today made at these odds.

John M. Killeen, head of the Royal Rooters, stated today that in his opinion the Red Sox would be a 10 to 6 favorite in the betting by the time the big series opened. He asserted that he believed the betting would be $100 to $75 on the individual tussles, with the Carrigans the choice. He said that the betting on the different games would, of course, be affected by the outcome of the early battles.

The Red Sox were 10 to 8 favorites in Wall Street, while in other parts of New York and Brooklyn the Boston club ruled a 10 to 7 favorite, with plenty of Brooklyn money being put up.

NEW CLEW IN SLAYING FOUND

Another discovery in the form of cut telephone wires in the Small cottage, on the shores of Lake Ossipee, is the latest find by attorneys who are fighting for Frederick L. Small, who is accused of murdering his wife.

According to the officials, the telephone wires in the cottage connecting Mrs. Small with the outside world were cut some time between 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the time Mrs. Small was murdered.

This is the most recent of many discoveries which have been made by counsel for Mr. Small. They feel elated over this new find, claiming that it makes the accused man's alibi stronger than anything they have yet discovered.

A clew in a towel bearing stains of what is declared to be blood. The towel will be turned over to a chemist today to establish beyond all doubt the nature of these spots.

Small's counsel regarded the towel as of high importance in their case for the prisoner.

AUTO IS ANOTHER CLEW.

Both sides are working every minute to complete their cases, if that be possible, in time for the hearing tomorrow. There is the keenest interest in the trial everywhere in this section, and undoubtedly a large crowd will turn out to attend.

Among other developments today were plans for an examination for possible fingerprints in and near the spot where the towel was found; and an inquiry into a report that an automobile was seen on the lonely road

MYSTERY OVER BAG DEEPENS

The mystery surrounding the theft of a bag at the North Station, believed to contain official secrets of the German government, for whose return a reward of $1,000 is offered, became complicated today when it was learned that several men had taken steps to claim the reward.

At the same time, Oswald Kunhardt, consul and official representative of both the German and Austro-Hungarian governments, officially denied knowing anything of the stolen bag, or of the reward offered, until he read it in a morning newspaper.

A man giving his name as Oswald Kunhardt inserted an advertisement in a Boston newspaper offering $1,000 reward "for the return of a bag stolen at the North Station at 3:05 yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon." The advertisement also said that "Positively no questions would be asked."

ONLY ONE OF THE NAME.

The only Oswald Kunhardt listed in the city directory is the consul and official representative of the German and Austro-Hungaran governments, with an office at No. 76 State street and a residence at the Tennis and Racquet Club.

The man who inserted the advertisement was tall, soldierly appearing and about forty years of age, gave his address as No. 72 State street, and paid cash for the insertion. He left no further information as to how he could be reached.

Several men, who apparently knew something about the theft of the bag, called at the newspaper office today and, after inquiring where the man who inserted the advertisement could be reached, left notes addressed to the box number. They did not reveal their identity, and behaved as mysteriously as others who have figured in the theft.

"I don't know a blessed thing about it," said Consul Kunhardt, when questioned today. "No bag from this office has been stolen, nor any bag owned by any one connected with the office."

TOLD BY A REPORTER.

"I did not insert the advertisement. I was in Brockton attending at the fair from 1 to 5 yesterday afternoon, and left at 5:30 for my home at Manchester. The first I knew about the reward was when I was awakened at 11 o'clock last night by a reporter, who asked me about it.

"The only solution I can suggest is that someone is trying to put up a joke on me, and yet that possibility seems remote in view of the fact that I don't believe the man who inserted the advertisement could have figured out in advance that it would have secured the publicity from the newspapers that it has received."

NEWHALL MARRIES WIDOW

City Clerk "Joe" Attwill of Lynn, running through his morning mail today, recognized on an envelope the handwriting of his old friend, Asa T. Newhall, former Mayor of Lynn, and since then holding down a steady job as one of the Lynn assessors.

Mr. Newhall, who is sixty-five years old, started away Saturday afternoon on his two weeks' vacation. The letter was postmarked "Brooklyn."

"Ah," thought City Clerk Attwill, "so Asa is over with the Dodgers and he's dropped me a line."

Business of ripping open envelope. Starts to read:

"Great Scott! He's married!"

For the letter read, in effect that:

"Inasmuch as I did not file any marriage intentions in your office before I left I wish to inform you that I was married here last Monday night to Mrs. Lillian F. Leighton of Lynn."

JOKES ABOUT PRONOUCTION.

The writer added to his well known joking vein that he trusted that the city clerk would not prosecute him for not telling him beforehand about his marriage plans.

Then the news flew around City Hall and spread over Lynn that former Mayor Newhall and Mrs. Leighton had been married Monday in Brooklyn, without letting any of their home friends in on the plans.

They were married, the bridegroom wrote, in the Flatbush Congregational Church. Mr. Newhall has relatives in Brooklyn, who were at the ceremony.

Some folks, when they first heard the news, exclaimed:

"Elopement, eh!"

But when it became known that relatives of the bride were at the wedding and maybe a friend or two of the bridegroom, the City Hall crowd at Lynn figured that they couldn't call it a regular elopement.

AND THEY DIDN'T SUSPECT.

Nevertheless, they realized that the canny assessor had had vacation plans they never suspected.

He was a widower. The first Mrs. Newhall died about six years ago. His home is on Lynnfield street. He owns most of that street and considerable other real estate in the Shoe City.

Mrs. Newhall, who is about fifty years old, was a widow. Her first husband was credit manager of a Lynn shoe company and since his death, some four years ago, she has lived at Broad and Portland streets.

The Newhalls and Leightons knew one another for years.

First Ticket Notices for Series Reach Fortunate Fans

The first ticket notices for the World's Series were sent out today. A large squad of clerks have been working night and day at Fenway Park, and President Lannin of the Red Sox announced that he expects to be able to place additional lots of ticket notices in the custody of Uncle Sam's mail late today.

The first ticket notices sent out called for box seats and were mailed at 3 a. m. this morning. They were received by the fortunate ones in Boston on the first mail this morning. They will reach outside parties later.

Applications are still being received at Fenway Park. They are being filed and the Red Sox management will try and fill as many of them as possible.

FRENCH ADVANCE ON SOMME FRONT

By CHARLES P. HERTELL,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, Oct. 4.—The French forces north of the Somme have scored another important success to the north of Combles. Co-operating with the British in the drive against Bapaume, they captured an important German communication trench at Morval and in the St. Pierre-Vaast wood capturing 200 prisoners. The successes were announced by the War Office today.

The text of the statement follows:

"North of the Somme we completed the conquest of the powerful lines of trenches between Morval and the St. Pierre-Vaast Wood. We made 200 prisoners, of whom ten are officers.

"South of the Somme there was lively enemy bombardment in the region of Belloy-en-Santerre.

"The night was calm on the rest of the front. Bad weather hampers aerial operations on a greater part of the front."

AVIATORS THROWN INTO THE WATER

While attempting to fly back to Marblehead today from Gun Rock, Nantasket, with the hydroplane of Lawrence B. Sperry, the New York aviator, who became lost in the thick fog of late Monday afternoon and was lost for more than fourteen hours, Aviators Newton and Fowler struck Lobster Rock, off the Atlantic House, Nantasket Beach, and were thrown into the water. The bottom of the machine was damaged.

The men were picked up by two lobster fishermen, Edwin Hatch and H. Webster Mitchell, Jr., and three others. The machine and the men were taken back to Gun Rock.

TENER TRIES TO HUSH UP CHARGES

An investigation of the Giants-Dodgers baseball scandal was demanded today in New York by President Ban Johnson of the American League.

He called it "outrageous."

President John K. Tener of the National League—the scandal being on his side of the baseball family, so to speak—was trying to hush the matter up.

But, about the time Tener was calling it merely McGraw's "temper" and a "closed incident" President Johnson was saying:

"The National League should sift this affair to the bottom. McGraw's charges and the scandal growing out of it are outrageous. If anything like this happened in the American League there would be a rumpus that would shake someone out of his boots. I consider this purely a National League affair, but I feel that the league should get busy and do something."

The opposite statements of Tener and Johnson were flashed over the wires today from New York, where both men are sitting with Garry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati Reds, as the National Baseball Commission. Herrmann is chairman.

MAY INVESTIGATE.

It was taken for granted that the commission would investigate the scandal, following the charges made by Manager McGraw of the Giants that several of his own men played indifferently, disobeyed McGraw's orders and generally laid down before the Brooklyns.

Such a statement by McGraw himself, coming at such a crisis in the pennant struggle and bearing so keenly upon the National League result, jarred the fans from coast to coast. Investigation was regarded as inevitable.

Chairman Herrmann of the National Commission said today that he did not think the matter would come up before the National Commission, but he added:

"It is a National League affair anyway."

Then he lined up with Tener to the extent of saying: "McGraw is a misguided individual who lets his temper run away with his better judgement."

Tener said:

Boston fans believe that this scandal—coming right on the eve of the World Series—should be probed clear down to the cellar.

If this is allowed to pass without rigid investigation the fans will naturally conclude: "It must have been true. Guess they didn't want to go into it."

The next time a scandal arises the public recalling this one, will be ready to believe the worst.

McGraw has probably lost his temper and said some things he did not mean. I regard the incident as closed and I do not believe that Mr. Johnson and Mr. Herrmann, the other members of the National Commission, will want to take it up."

But Ban Johnson, president of the American League, does not believe "the incident closed."

Not since the playoff of the championship between the Cubs and Giants several years ago, when an attempt was made to bribe the umpires to throw the game to the Giants, has the national pastime been so scandalized.

While most of the dyed-in-the-wool fans do not agree that the Giants laid down to the Dodgers in order that Robinson's men might clinch the pennant, there are some skeptics. These fans are the ones who have been "rooting" against the Dodgers all year. They stick to the charge that there was collusion between the Giants and Dodgers.

Manager Robinson of the Dodgers heatedly denied McGraw's charge that the Giants were indifferent. Robinson declared that his team played the better baseball, that the Giants were bound to relax after the record breaking stunt of winning 26 games, and that the pitchers, who put in every ounce they had to make the record, were cracking under the strain.

What the commission's probe will bring out is a matter of conjecture. McGraw is a strict disciplinarian. He has been a little sore because his record-breaking stunt was slipped last Saturday, and "peeved" because his charges could not beat the Dodgers—a thing they have not done often this year.

I am not accusing anyone of anything wrong, but I will not stand for

DORCHESTER WIFE SUES QUINCY WOMAN

Mrs. Blanche E. Winslow, whose address is given in the city directory as No. 93 Spencer street, Dorchester, brought suit for $10,000 in the Superior Court today against Mabel McQuade of Quincy, charging she alienated the affections of her husband, Temple A. Winslow. Mrs. Winslow declares in the suit that the Quincy woman displayed undue friendliness to her husband in April, 1907, and August, of this year, as a result of which she was enticed away from her home and induced to part with money and property. Temple A. Winslow is not listed in the city directory.

HAIG DESCRIBES 'BIG PUSH' ALONG SOMME

By SIDNEY B. CAVE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, Oct. 4—Between July 1, the opening of the Somme battle, and the end of September the British forces on that front took 26,735 prisoners. They engaged in that period thirty-eight German divisions and forced twenty-nine of them to withdraw from the battle, exhausted or shattered. These results were announced in a summary of the Somme operations by Sir Douglas Haig today, given out by the official press bureau.

The Germans have been thrown back on their fourth line defenses. The British commander points out that the actual results of the battle must not be measured by the number of prisoners and positions taken, but by the effect upon the Teutons in strength and material morale. It emphasizes the heavy German losses in vain counter attacks. The text of Sir Douglas' statement follows:

26,735 GERMANS TAKEN.

"At the end of September the situation summarized was as follows:

"Since the opening of the battle on July 1 we have taken 26,735 prisoners and have engaged thirty-eight German divisions, of which twenty-nine have been withdrawn in an exhausted or broken state.

"We hold a half-moon of upland southward of the Ancre and every height of importance and so have the direct observation of the ground east and northeast.

"The enemy has fallen back upon his fourth line, behind the low ground west of the Bapaume-Transloy road.

"The importance of the three months offensive is not to be judged by the distance we advanced or by the number of enemy trench lines taken, but must be looked for in the enemy's strength in numbers, material and morale.

RESERVES USED UP.

"The enemy used up his reserves in repeated costly and useless counter attacks without causing our allies or ourselves to relax our steady and methodical pressure.

"In this action troops from every part of the British empire and the British Islands were engaged. All behaved with the discipline and resolution of veterans.

"Our aircraft have shown in the highest degree the spirit of offensive. They have patrolled regularly far behind the lines and have fought many battles in the air with hostile machines and many with enemy machines on the ground.

"For every enemy machine which succeeds in crossing our front, it is safe to say that 200 British machine cross the enemy's front.

"A captured German corps report described our aeroplanes as surprisingly bold and their work has been conspicuous for skill and judgment as for its daring."

WAR SUMMARY

Interest today centers in the fighting on the Dobrudja front, where reports from all sources agree that the offensive lies with the Russo-Rumanian forces. The objective of the strategy of both forces is considered clear by military experts. That is, the Bulgarians will have accomplished their main object when the great bridge at Cernavoda is taken or destroyed. The Russo-Rumanian object is to drive through Bulgaria and relieve the situation on the Salonica front by an earnest drive toward Constantinople.

The only other certain thing concerning the status of the forces on the Dobrudja front today is that a great battle is raging all along the line from the fortress of Tutrakan, below the Danube, to the Black Sea.

London looks for the opening of the long-delayed drive by General Sarrail, French commander of the army of many nations on the Salonica front. If Sarrail is ready to move, and if he has the considerable forces reported to be at his disposal, it looks as if Field Marshal von Mackensen might be between the upper and the nether millstones. The famous German "thruster," however, is a brilliant strategist, and has previously extricated himself from many tight places.

Some strategists insist that General Brussiloff must take either Kovel or Lemberg before Winter sets in if he would achieve any important results. Beyond doubt on the Russian front west of Lutsk the Russians are again seeking to break through the Teuton lines running north and south to the west of Lutsk. Berlin states that thousands of Slavs have been sacrificed in vain assaults. Petrograd announces that the Russians have advanced west of Lutsk, near Zaturze, after stubborn fighting, while German forces, taking the offensive south of Dvinsk, attacking the Russians near Novo Alexandrovsk, have been repulsed.

Throngs Cheer Wilson in Ohio

By International News Service.

On Board President Wilson's Train, Alliance, O., Oct. 4.—President Wilson appeared on the train platform here as he sped through Ohio today en route to Omaha. He was greeted by a cheering throng which clamored impatiently for a speech, but the President smilingly declined. The schools were closed in honor of the President's visit and hundreds of children were in the crowd.

The President said that he would announce the members of the eight-hour commission either tomorrow or Friday.

The President went back on his determination to not to say anything at all when the train passed through Canton. He was given such a rousing reception there that he walked to the edge of the platform and holding up his hand said:

"I am not making speeches, but it is extremely cheering to be greeted in such a way and so unexpectedly. It is the kind of hospitality that makes a man's heart warm. I appreciate it and I wish you all sorts of good luck."

Then, just as the train started to pull out the President added: "Give my regard to the Senator."

Senator Atlee Pomerene lives at Canton.

SLAVS BOMBARD SUBURBS OF BRZEZANY

By International News Service.

Petrograd, Oct. 4.—"Stubborn battles continue," according to today's Russian War Office, both in Volhynia, around Korytnica (southeast of Vladimir-Volynski) and on the Gnilaya and Zlota-Lipa Rivers in Galicia. The statement admits that "the enemy is stubbornly holding his positions."

Unofficial despatches from the Galician front early today reported that the Russians had crossed the Zlota-Lipa south of Brzezany, forty-six miles southeast of Lemberg and were bombarding the suburbs of that town.

Russian gunboats have bombarded the positions of the Bulgarian left wing in the Dobrudja, the War Office announced. It is added that the Russo-Rumanian offensive continues along the line of Russov (on the Danube) Cobadin-Perveli toward the Black Sea.

Bulgars Open New Drive on Danube

By International News Service.

Sofia, Oct. 4.—Bulgarian forces have begun an invasion of Rumania from the northwest. They have occupied the Danube island of Malak Kalafatnecalafat, opposite the stronghold of Vidin, and are bombarding the city of Kalafat, the War Office announced today.

The official statement admits that the Rumanians have succeeded in throwing "considerable units of troops" across the Danube upon Bulgarian soil near the village of Ranova. These are reinforcements for the original Rumanian detachment. A violent battle is in progress here and in the Dobrudja, where the Bulgarian War Office claims the repulse of Russians and Rumanians.

British Take Town on Bulgarian Front.

By International News Service.

London, Oct. 4.—The British forces forming the right wing of the allied army in Macedonia have scored an important advance during the last twenty-four hours, the War Office reported today. They captured part of the village of Jenilog, south of the Seres road and broke up all subsequent Bulgarian attacks.

Fresh Bulgarian troops were thrown into the battle late last night and since then a stubborn battle has been in progress.

The latest official reports severe casualties suffered by the Bulgars.

WILSON PLANS NO NEW PEACE MOVE

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Administration officials said today that the suggestion of Viscount Bryce of Dechmont, former ambassador at Washington, that America must lead toward peace would not lead to any new move at this time by President Wilson.

The latter still is convinced, men who know him best say, that any move now would be misunderstood.

They point out, however, that Ambassador Page and Sharp soon will be back at their posts in London and Paris respectively, ready to keep their attention concentrated on public sentiment in England and France and that they have direct instructions from President Wilson to notify him at once when they believe a move toward mediation can be made.

VIOLENT BATTLE ON LONG FRONT IN RUMANIA

By SIDNEY B. CAVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, Oct. 4—A violent battle is raging all along the far-flung battle line in Rumania, from the region west of the fortress of Tutrakan, south of the Danube, to the Black Sea. Upon its outcome depends, in the opinion of military critics, the success or failure of the whole Teuton Balkan campaign.

All reports from the Rumanian front agree that the initiative is in the hands of the Russo-Rumanian forces. Berlin claims that up to late yesterday the attackers had failed to pierce von Mackensen's front in the Dobrudja. Interest centers chiefly upon the battle between the Rumanians who have crossed to the southern bank of the Danube, south of Bucharest, and the Bulgarian forces protecting the Vardar River.

The latest reports from Teutonic and Bulgarian sources state that "measures have been taken to attack these forces." Bitter fighting is unofficially reported to be well under way.

No official word had been received up to early today since the Berlin report that Austrian monitors had destroyed the bridges over the Danube behind the Rumanians. Military observers here conceded that the position of the crossing forces is perilous unless they are in sufficient strength to hold their hastily entrenched lines until reinforcements arrive. The Russo-Rumanian army in the Dobrudja is attacking Mackensen's forces without pause in order to prevent reinforcements being sent to the Danube front.

ITALIANS CAPTURE MOUNTAIN PEAKS

Rome, Oct. 4.—Italian Alpine troops gained a new and important success in the Trentino district, when infantry in the Cismon-Brenta valley climbed the steep slopes of the second peak of Col Rericon (8,462 feet high) under a heavy fire and captured the summit. The first peak is already in the hands of the Italians.

In the Carnia region the Italians captured another peak, 9,989 feet high.

By International News Service.

Berlin, via Sayville wireless, Oct. 4.—German submarines between September 20 and 29 sank in the North Sea thirty-five hostile vessels with a total tonnage of 14,000, the Overseas News Agency announced today. Thirty-one prisoners were brought in. The vessels destroyed are in addition to eleven English fish steamers and four Belgian lighters previously reported.

Suspend Sentence for Theft of Auto

Ralph W. Emerson of Somerville, night watchman in the Chestnut Hill garage, who disappeared last Monday with a large touring car and $2850 belonging to his employer, F. H. Hooker, today in the Newton Court pleaded guilty to taking an automobile without the owner's consent and also to the larceny of money and was sentenced to thirty days for taking the automobile. The larceny charge was continued until January 12. Later Joseph L. Lancaster, owner of the automobile, and Hooker, both of whom refused to take witness fees prevailed upon the presiding judge to release Emerson on a suspended sentence.

VENIZELOS MEN TO JOIN NEW CABINET

London, Oct. 4.—Dispatches reaching London today from Athens indicated that several supporters of M. Venizelos, former premier, will be given places in the new cabinet now being formed. This it is declared is being done to give the new ministry a national character.

ALL EAUCOURT L'ABBAYE HELD BY BRITISH

London, Oct. 4. — The village of Eaucourt-L'Abbaye south of Bapaume today was cleared by the British of the last remaining defenders, the War Office announced. Violent artillery duels are raging south of the Ancre. Rain is hampering the operations today.

Yesterday the Germans were reported stubbornly holding their ground in the Eaucourt L'Abbaye sector.

The text of the statement follows:

"Eaucourt L'Abbaye has been cleared of the enemy and is entirely in our hands.

"During the night there was considerable shelling on our front south of the Ancre. Otherwise there was no change. A heavy rain has fallen since this morning."

BOY, 16, BREAKS MILK TRUST IN DANVERS

Walt Innis, sixteen, Milk Trust "buster," of Danvers, and his pet cow; above is his sister, Bertha, two and one-half years, drinking some of the cow's milk.

Walter E. Innis, Jr., sixteen, son of Farmer Innis, is breaking the milk trust of the town of Danvers.

Three well established milk men in the town are after his scalp for keeping the price of milk down to eight cents a quart when they are selling it for ten cents a quart.

"Walt" is a wide awake boy, brought up on a farm, who knows cows and how to milk them. More than a month ago, when he heard the complaints of many persons in the town that milk was selling from nine to ten cents a quart, he got the help of his father and mother and they bought out an established milk man in the town named Palmer. They bought also his good will. Walt has now twenty-two cows and a few calves to his credit.

At first he had on his purchased milk route about 100 customers. The trust in the town spread the report that Walt's milk was dirty and that was the reason why he was selling it for eight cents a quart.

FIGHT WITH TRUST.

In a couple of days his customers dwindled down to 105 on account of the trust opposition.

The opposition said, "If you take Walt's milk you'll have to take it with eyes shut."

Walt came home last Saturday discouraged, because they were saying such things about him. He told his mother, Mrs. Emma Innis, and they both went to work to get the cheapest milk and keep selling it for eight cents a quart. And with his mother's aid Walt has broken the cordon of milkmen around him.

Milkmen Armstrong, Gates and Pittman tried to drive the sixteen-year-old boy out of the milk business.

But Walt conquered them. Today he has 228 customers. He offers to sell anyone in town clean milk for eight cents a quart and make a good living out of it at that price.

He gets up every morning at 2:30 o'clock and with the help of his parents and younger brother, John, gets his milk ready for delivery. He is making today sixteen cents profit on every can of milk sold, or about $23 a week including all expenses.

FIGHTING TRIM.

Walt is now in good fighting trim and will keep the price of milk down to eight cents. He may reduce the price to seven cents if there is any more opposition.

"I'm in this business for keeps," said the young milkman when many of the townspeople congratulated him upon his pluck.

"I can give good, clean, pure milk for eight cents a quart and make money out of it.

"I'll put my milk up against any milk in the State for purity. I know of poor people in this town who have a hard enough time to get along and cannot well afford to pay this extra two cents a quart for milk. I'm making money out of it at this price and any one can look at my books.

"I don't believe in raising the price of milk in Danvers because they have raised it in some other town or city.

IN FIGHT TO STAY.

"My father has been on this farm and knit over 50 years. He knows what he's talking about and he has told me that I can sell milk for eight cents a quart and get a good living out of it. That's what I am doing.

"They cannot frighten me into raising the price. I'm going to keep on fighting this trust business in this town. Something has got to break. They cannot down me."

Mrs. Innis has six healthy looking children. They are Johnnie, twelve years old; Carrie, nine; Donald, eight; Bertha, two-and-a-half; and one, a cripple. All of them drink the milk that Walt sells and thrive on it.

"If you want to see what kind of milk my son sells," declares Mrs. Innis, "look at my children."

BIG SHORTAGE IN BOSTON MILK

Boston was short 44,625 quarts of milk today, or five carloads, according to Secretary Richard Pattee of the New England Milk Producers' Association, who is conducting the milk fight for the farmers from his headquarters at the Quincy House.

Secretary Pattee, when questioned as to his knowledge, stated that he based his estimate on the reports that were constantly coming to him by telegram, telephone and letter from the farmers all over New England.

He said "I should say, according to reports that I have received, that Boston would be shy about five cars of milk today. I can't see how it can be helped."

There are 1,050 cans of milk to the ordinary milk car.

Most of the milk shipped here comes in eight and one-half quart cans.

Officers at the milk depot at East Somerville laugh at Secretary Pattee's statement. They say that that there is undoubtedly some noticeable shortage, but that five carloads is too much.

To the everyday observer there is apparently as much milk coming to at the terminal as ever. Large trucks from every contractor in and about Boston were in their usual places and to all appearances were getting their usual loads.

A glance at some of the cans on these showed milk coming from the parts of New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont, and Western Massachusetts.

Dr. Davis, of the H. P. Hood & Sons Company, declares that there is no need of fear of a milk shortage. He displayed a telegram today from a farmer at Berwick, Maine, the district where Secretary Pattee claims much of their milk is being withheld, stating that if the Hood concern would buy milk he would increase his stock.

According to Mr. Pattee, Professor J. W. Sanborn, the largest milk producer in New Hampshire, shipped his shipments today. His daily output is about 100 cans. For the past two days he has been shipping his milk at home.

This led the producers to state that the farmers were not with the association.

Accordingly, President Colby interviewed the producer, with the result that he promised to shut off his supply.

TELLS OF TELEGRAM.

Dr. Davis said that despite the efforts of President Colby to have the farmers withheld their milk and stop shipping their milk they all did their usual amount of shipping today. He said: "Hugh A. Colby's own home town, Whitefield, New Hampshire, I received a telegram this morning from one of our farmers in which he stated that the farmers were so much pleased with the raise, October 1, that he had secured four new dairies to supply us with milk with the proviso that we will pay whatever price the signed, T. H. Howard."

Burrowes, Adams & Childs, milk dealers of Waltham, who distribute through Waltham, Brookline, Watertown, Belmont and Cambridge, deny the purport of a telegram received by Secretary Pattee from a Claremont farmer to the effect that they will pay the price asked. Mr. Andrews says: "We will pay whatever price the Boston contractors agree to pay."

Secretary Pattee declared that evidently there is a misunderstanding between the Waltham contractors on the one side and the farmers from whom they obtain their milk on the other.

Attempt to Settle N. Y. Milk Dispute

New York, Oct. 4.—Instead of a closer approach to a milk famine, the second day of the farmers' strike brought New York a possibility of a settlement of the dispute which has deprived large distributors of 1,000,000 quarts daily from normal sources.

Mayor Mitchel intervened as a potential peacemaker and heard the stories of both the dealers and producers.

These conferences were followed by an announcement from John J. Dillon, state commissioner of foods and markets and authorized agent for 17,000 farmers, that the dairyman's league might be willing to waive the principle of collective bargaining provided the distributing firms agreed to pay for six months, the prices demanded by the league.

Representatives of the many milk firms will meet the Mayor this morning to discuss the compromise. District Attorney Swann added the peace movement by announcing that the recently anti-trust statute will not interfere with an adjustment of milk prices satisfactory to both sides. This statute forbids combinations in restraint of trade to control prices.

Victory Near in New York for Farmers.

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 4.—Indications today pointed to an early settlement of the milk crisis in New York city, with a victory for the farmers. The big milk distributors showed signs of yielding, officials of the leading concerns admitting that a solution was not impossible.

Negotiations are expected to be entered into shortly for a compromise agreement. The dealers virtually admitted that they could not hold out.

Consent by the Dairymen's League to waive recognition of the organization did much to facilitate further dealings between the two sides. The day's milk supply was much smaller than yesterday's, when only a little more than 40 per cent of the normal quantity was delivered.

Baby Bad'y Hurt by Wagon.

John E. Lunney, 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lunney, of No. 15 Union street, Somerville, who was seriously crushed by an ice wagon while playing in front of his home on Saturday, is still on the dangerous list at the Somerville Hospital. The child is suffering from a broken thigh. Amputation of the leg will not be necessary.

ATTACKS POLICE IN ROPER'S TRIAL

William H. Wilson, counsel for Albert J. Roper, who is being tried for his life for the murder of his father, bitterly criticised the police in his summing up argument today in the East Cambridge court house. He referred to the third degree methods used as a "modern torture chamber," and said the police did nothing to discover the real murderer after they had laid their hands on Roper.

"We do not want his brothers and sisters to go through life with this shadow cast from their pals of their father cause the hand that struck him down," said Mr. Wilson, slowly and impressively in addressing the jury.

"The law does not demand a victim. It seeks to find the guilty and punish him. The officers did nothing to discover the real murderer after they laid their hands on Bert Roper."

Referring to the much-discussed third degree methods of the police form a modern torture chamber. The defendant bared his life to the court, he told his faults, all of them, was put through a grilling cross examination by learned counsel and did not break down.

"Bert has told the truth from start to finish."

NEUTRALS URGED TO BAN ALL SUBMARINES

By International News Service.

London, Oct. 4.—A white paper issued by the official press bureau gives the following as the allied governments' opinion regarding the treatment to be accorded belligerent submarines in neutral waters.

"Submarines should be excluded from the benefit of the rules hitherto recognized by the law of nations regarding the admission of vessels of war or merchantmen in neutral waters, roadways or ports, and sojourning there. Belligerent submarines entering a neutral port should be detained."

Makes Tissue Grow After Death

New York, Oct. 4.—Dr. Robert A. Lambert, working in the pathological laboratory of the Presbyterian Hospital in this city, has so improved the method of cultivating human tissue after its removal from the body, by modifying the culture medium, that it will grow and multiply indefinitely.

In other words, human tissue would live forever if properly attended.

These are Dr. Lambert's conclusions.

"Unmodified human plasma is not a satisfactory culture medium for human tissues, owing to the susceptibility of human fibrin to digestion by tissue ferments. The necessary framework is thus destroyed before the cells begin to migrate.

"The difficulty can be overcome by adding to human plasma or serum a small quantity of fowl or pigeon plasma, the fibrin of which is highly resistant to digestion. Human tissues have been propagated in this medium for several months through sub-cultures and growth in vitro can probably be maintained indefinitely."

Perin, who is in charge of the campaign.

CHILDREN BARRED FROM ALL SCHOOLS

Newburyport, Oct. 4.—The local Board of Health has issued a drastic order forbidding all children under sixteen years of age to attend any church, public or parochial school, or public amusement in the city, until further notice. The board declares in its order that it takes the action in response to the wishes of many parents.

MOTHER WINS LONG FIGHT FOR GIRL

Mrs. Eleanor A. Haddin of Weymouth, whose fight for the custody of her five-year-old daughter has extended into several States, won another legal victory today when Judge McLaughlin, sitting in the Norfolk Superior Court at Dedham, issued an order placing the custody of the child with her.

Judge McLaughlin also issued an order restraining James L. Haddin, who is being sued for divorce, from imposing any restraint on the personal liberty of his wife, Eleanor A. Haddin, during the time the divorce libel is pending.

The order relative to the custody of the child further provided that the father be prohibited and restrained by the court from taking possession of the little girl.

BITTER LEGAL FIGHT.

During the last year Eleanor has experienced more thrills than fall to the lot of most children in a lifetime. She has figured in midnight kidnapings and has been involved in all manner of legal difficulties in the fight that has been made for her custody.

On October 15, last year, Mr. Haddin removed Eleanor from the home of Mrs. Haddin in Bridgeport, Conn., and took her to Chicago. There he awaited developments.

These were forthcoming when District Attorney Devney of Bridgeport induced the Governor of Connecticut to issue requisition papers on Governor Dunne of Illinois. The papers, however, were not honored. Governor Dunne ruling that the alleged offence was not extraditable.

Mrs. Haddin then went to Chicago. Her husband played a counter move, by taking the little girl to St. Charles, forty miles from the city, and outside the jurisdiction of Cook County.

VIOLATED COURT ORDER.

That move of Mr. Haddin's was in violation of the ruling of the court that the child should not be moved from its jurisdiction.

As a hearing in Chicago some time ago the judge gave Mr. Haddin the custody of the child, with certain restrictions.

At a court hearing in Chicago only a few days ago, the former decision was reversed and the court ruled that the mother should have the custody of little Eleanor.

Dr. Leonard Wolfe of North Weymouth, an uncle of the child, went to Chicago and returned with the child, not until both boys' romance had figured in another love triangle, when the father is alleged to have stolen from the little girl outside the State.

CHEMIST GIVES LIFE FOR SCIENCE

By International News Service.

Bayonne, N. J., Oct. 4.—William Peck, expert chemist of the Texas Oil Company, today gave up his life in the interest of science. While a dozen officials of the company watched the expert making a test with barium nitrate, Peck ignited the chemical. A terrific explosion followed. Peck was thrown to the floor, his clothing caught fire and his face was burned beyond recognition. The officials, temporarily blinded by the flash, stood by powerless to aid him.

Peck was thirty years of age and came here from Illinois.

To Save Eyes Is the Object of This Free Prescription. Try It If Your Eyes Give You Trouble

Doctor Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50% in One Week's Time in Many Instances.

Philadelphia, Pa. Thousands of people suffer from weak, watering eyes and other eye troubles because they do not know what to do, says Doctor Lewis. They know some good home remedy for all their other ills, but none for their eye troubles. They think their eyes, because the inconvenience is not sufficient to drive them to an eye specialist, they would, anyway, charge them a heavy fee. A last resort, they go to an optician or to the five and ten-cent store, and oftentimes get glasses they do not need, or which, after a few months, do their eyes more injury than good.

Here is a simple prescription that every one should use: Ingredients Bon-Opto dissolved in ½ glass of water. Use three or four times a day to bathe the eyes. This prescription keeps the eyes clean, sharpens the vision and quickly overcomes inflammation and irritation; weak, watery, overworked, tired eyes and other similar troubles they greatly benefited and oftentimes cured by its use. Many reports show that wearers of glasses have discarded them after a few weeks' use.

One man says: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for 15 days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses."

It is good for the eyes, and contains no ingredients which would injure the most sensitive eyes of an infant or the aged. Any druggist can fill this prescription. Try it, and know for once what real eye comfort is.

Note—Another prominent City Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to doctors as specialties and widely prescribed by them. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for emergency use in families over-looking a child."

KEEPING SMALL PUPILS AT HOME

Many small children are being kept away from the public schools.

Parents have called teachers they will not send their children to kindergarten and first grade schools until colder weather arrives.

The kindergartens are only one-quarter filled. South Boston and Roxbury make a better showing in these schools than the other districts.

In the high schools more than 400 transfers of pupils have been made. More transfers are expected. The high schools are well filled, especially in the upper grades.

School physicians are examining the scholars, but not a case of infantile paralysis has been discovered.

The physicians are insisting more than ever upon clean hands, clean faces and clean heads, and those who do not come up to the mark are sent home.

The school nurses are giving valuable aid and their services in homes are showing good results.

In about two weeks, it is expected, all the grades will have their normal number, provided no serious outbreak of infantile paralysis occurs.

The delay in opening the schools this year has caused some confusion. The curriculum will in many instances be shortened.

E. T. SLATTERY HELP HEARS MISS PRINCE

Miss Lucinda M. Prince, one of the pioneer teachers in "intensive salesmanship" to not only those who have been employed in stores but high school boys and girls, told the members of the Business Club of the E. T. Slattery Company the manner in which the young people are being taught to become better and more intelligent workers; of how the business and educational bodies of many cities had manifested an interest in the work, proving its value, and of the possibilities of the sellers of goods offering the buyers of goods who have been "spoiled" by unwise methods of merchants in the past.

"Service of the best and most intelligent sort is what the E. T. Slattery Company's store experts to give its customers," was the keynote of Miss Prince's talk.

"There's a Reason"

NEW CLEW TO SMALL SLAYING

four the scene of the murder between the hour of sunset and the time of the fire which destroyed the Small cottage.

The stomach of the slain woman is being examined by Professor Kingsford at Dartmouth College, the New Hampshire state pathologist. This examination is being made among other reasons to see if Mrs. Small might have been drugged before she was slain.

The "mystery" as to the whereabouts of the stomach of Mrs. Small was cleared today by a statement made over the telephone to Dr. Kingsford at Dartmouth College.

Boston reports had it that the traveling bag containing the stomach had been stolen in the North Station. Dr. Kingsford proved these reports baseless by saying he had the stomach in his possession at the college.

The towel supposed to be stained with blood was found at the bottom of a boat resting on the veranda of the cottage, and a coil of the line was also on the south shore of Lake Ossipee. This cottage where the boat is, is the property of Herbert Hodgson of Fryeburg, Me., a second cousin of Dr. E. W. Hodgson, and it was vacated about a month ago.

There are two large spots on the towel and several smaller ones. It is in the possession of William J. Mathews and Sidney F. Stevens, counsel for Frederick L. Small, the murdered woman's husband, who tomorrow morning will be brought from the jail in Ossipee to Mountain View for a preliminary hearing on the charge of murder in the first degree.

FIND DOOR UNLOCKED.

Small's counsel asserted that this towel, with the discovery that the cellar door to the Small cottage was not locked on the day of the murder, is perfectly safe in their custody that, after Small had departed for Boston, some chance wayfarer had entered the house, committed the murder and then set fire to the dwelling.

The lawyers expressed the belief that the slayer, after inflicting the eight wounds found on the skull of the dead woman, had wiped his hands on the towel, escaped through the cellar door and then hidden the towel in the motor boat under its canvas covering.

Small's counsel denied a rumor that they had strong evidence against a prominent New Hampshire man, but they said they are conducting a thorough investigation.

The towel is of regular size and pattern. On the towel, which seemed to have been buried on one end, were several red spots, believed to have been made by blood.

When the towel was given to Attorney Stevens, he immediately declared the stains to be blood, and said they will be immediately examined by a chemist. The towel may prove an important piece of evidence.

Attorney Stevens, equipped with field glasses and accompanied by a private detective in his employ, spent some time gathering evidence on the shores of Lake Ossipee.

The cellar door of the bungalow facing the lake was not locked last Thursday when it was reduced to ashes, it has been discovered. The bulkhead had covers which were kept locked by an inside brace. This brace, it is found, pointed straight up and down, whereas if the door had been locked it would have been in a horizontal position.

That it hasn't been moved since the blaze was proved, for beneath it was fresh paint that the fire hadn't smudged, while every other part of the door was blackened.

This door being unlocked while in back the kitchen door was locked from the inside, would prove that whoever left the house passed out through the bulkhead. Small left by the back door.

There has been some talk that, if Small's attorneys should fail to obtain his release when he is arraigned Thursday, they may seek to have the case transferred to another county where they may be more certain of finding an unprejudiced jury.

The counsel for the prisoner are confident of his being discharged by the court, however. They believe they have sufficient evidence to make a statement by their client, Frederick L. Small, unnecessary at the preliminary hearing.

The counsel said that, though at first they had not intended to call upon witnesses Thursday, they had decided after a conference to do so.

Through one of these witnesses they will probably introduce evidence in regard to the side-door lock in an attempt to show that after their client left the cottage this door was locked by someone in the house.

The footprints on the beach, the theory of the unfastened cellar entrance and the possibility that some person may have soiled his hands with the life blood of the victim, gone to the lake to wash and then hurriedly through the towel which was used to dry the water out of the pipes and the lake or tracked through the woods by some hunter or woodsman in the mountains, suggest the line along which the defence will rely to clear the accused.

Footprints, believed to have been a man's, in the sand, and a dog were found in the sand on the shore in front of the cottage burning Friday morning. They were measured and the measurements were guarded zealously by the sheriff. Whether he has discovered by whose feet the impressions were made, he refuses to say.

The packages of letters which were unearthed have not been examined as yet, owing to the fact that they were so badly burned that it was felt they might fall apart if opened by any person other than an expert in such work.

While the sheriff kept the hammer found in a toolbox, and a hatchet from the cellar, he discarded the theory that it was the instrument used in the murder of the woman's skull. He says it had nothing to do with the murder.

WILLS OF INSURANCE.

Edward C. Conner, who said the $2,000 joint life insurance policy to Small for himself and his wife, has told more fully some of the details of that transaction.

Conner said that he had urged Small to take out a policy, but that it was Small who finally decided, after going into the matter very thoroughly, to take out the joint policy by which if either he or his wife were to die, the other would become beneficiary.

Several different specimen contracts were written out for Small, which he examined carefully before he made his decision, according to Conner.

Mrs. Curry, during her brief visit here for the funeral, declared her daughter, Arlene, was four years younger than the age given by her husband when the policy was taken out. Mrs. Curry said Mrs. Small died at the age of thirty-five. Her age, as given in the insurance transaction, would have made her thirty-nine on the day of her death.

Conner says it would have made no difference in the cost, whether Mrs. Small, the younger party to the contract, was thirty-five or thirty-nine. If each had been insured separately, the giving of a younger age for the wife would have made a difference in the rate.

HEARING TOMORROW.

Tonight a dance will be held in Chamberlain Hall and tomorrow Small will be taken there and arraigned on the charge of murdering his wife. There is every indication that the hearing on the warrant, which will determine whether Small will be held over for the Grand Jury in December, will be bitterly contested.

Attorney Stevens said:

"We will not allow Small to testify tomorrow, for, with the large amount of evidence of his innocence that we have in our hands at this time, we do not feel that such action will be necessary. We feel that we ought to be able to get his discharge so that the case comes up for hearing before the magistrate tomorrow morning."

Sheriff Chandler has visited most of the residents of this northern portion of Ossipee to ask if any strangers were seen there Thursday.

Jailer Reed says that Small seems less nervous than he was when incarcerated. He has regained his appetite, and although he weeps and sobs at times, has shown surprising self-control.

PAY PENALTY FOR BRIBING OFFICIALS

New York, Oct. 4.—Heavy prison sentences were doled out today to two men convicted of bribing health inspectors to pass diseased meat.

Arthur Plant, twenty-one, son of a wealthy Brooklyn butcher, was sentenced to from two to five years and Herman Braunschweig from one to two and a half years in Sing Sing.

HUNT VICTIMS OF SLAYER OF BRIDE

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 4.—Police today began sending out letters and telegrams to determine if any of the hundreds of women with whom James C. Allerton, sixty-four, corresponded after becoming acquainted through matrimonial papers, are missing. Allerton last night confessed that he had married Mrs. Hanna St. Johns, sixty-five, of Mayfield, N. Y., last Thursday and killed her Friday after robbing her of $80.

USED FOUR NAMES.

Letters found in Allerton's rooms showed that he had corresponded with women in every part of the country and that to many of them he had proposed marriage. It also was learned that Allerton has used four names as his own.

These names were James Curtis, which he says was the right one; James Allen, William Allerton and John Allerton. He received his mail at two addresses here and at a third in Coopersville, Mich. Sheriff Berry says the most of the letters evidently in reply to those written by Allerton, referred to money matters and the women specifically detailed their financial condition.

HAD LIST OF WOMEN.

It is believed that Allerton posed as a wealthy farmer seeking a wife with means of her own. Evidently he had gone about the game systematically, for a notebook was found containing names and addresses of women and synopsis of the information which they had written about themselves. Another thing which leads the authorities to believe Allerton had an ulterior motive in his correspondence is that many of the replies said the writers had obeyed his instructions and torn up his letters.

Allerton's confession says that he and Mrs. St. Johns were married soon after her arrival. Then they went to the country "to buy a farm." While eating a picnic lunch in the woods she admitted that she had eighty dollars with her. She refused to give it up and Allerton shot her.

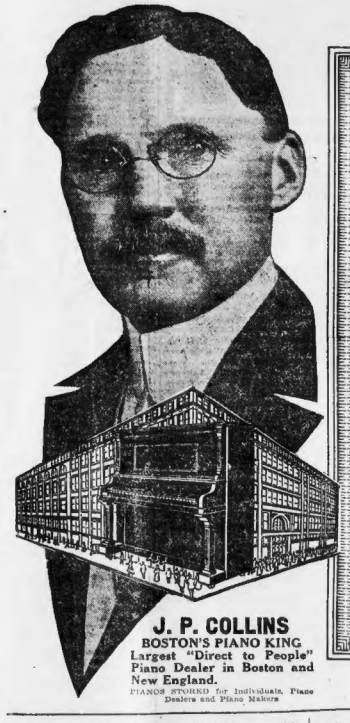
My Big October Clearance Piano Sale Finds the Prices Lower Than Ever On My Sacrifice Selling Floor



Buy This Week— If You Can Arrange to Do So

THE character of the pianos to be sacrificed this month is high—the prices are low—awfully low—so low in fact that your first impression is that we have made a mistake in our price quotations. But we will sell at the prices marked on the sacrifice tags. There is no money in the waiting game for me. My selling plan is one of action. Sell, sell, sell—get the pianos out and get them out quickly—never mind price—never mind profit. I don't like to sell pianos to dealers—sometimes I can't help it. If they get here before you do they will beat you to a fine bargain. Dealers know a good thing when they see it. I would rather sell to the public. If you have been considering buying any special make piano, come out here to this sale—look them over—I may have what you want at a big saving to you.

THIEF DRIVEN OFF BY GIRL AND DOG

The burglar who, it is estimated, cleaned up nearly $100,000 in recent North Shore breaks, entered the home of Mrs. Enrique Widmar of No. 15 Puritan road, Swampscott, last night and was frightened away by Miss Dorothy Heald, a maid, and a watchdog.

The burglar entered the dining room by way of the cellar and was gathering up silverware when Miss Heald entered from the kitchen with a tray of food for her mistress. When she discovered the burglar she dropped the tray and, screaming, fled upstairs. A moment later sounds of a battle between the burglar and the house dog were heard.

Later Mrs. Widmar discovered that the burglar had fled, leaving the silverware and other valuables intact.

Police of Lynn and Boston at work on the case believe that a woman accompanies the burglar. He was described to the police by the maid as being about 5 feet 7 inches tall, with a protruding chin, prominent front teeth on the lower jaw, and wearing a slouch hat pulled well down over his face.

BRIDGE TO SAVE MEN FROM ARREST

Because of the arrests of men employed in machine shops in Hyde Park for crossing the tracks of the New Haven road, Representative Robert B. Martin of Hyde Park has received a communication from the Street Commissioners informing him that the board is arranging for a foot bridge from Easton avenue to Dana avenue. Mayor Curley has authorized the Street Commissioners to expend $5,000.

A few days ago the railroad police arrested fifteen men while on their way to work. Fourteen were fined $5 each and lost a half day's pay.

TEST $60,000 WILL OF LOWELL WOMAN

Lowell, Oct. 4.—An action to break the will of Miss Ella E. Morse of Lowell, who died May 23, 1915, leaving an estate valued at $60,000, was started today before Judge Chamberlain by George Morse of Manchester, Miss Lowell's first cousin.

Lena Caswell of Dorchester, a second cousin of Miss Morse, was represented at the contest by Attorney William T. Atwood, but it was stated she will not participate in the controversy owing to the proceedings by Morse, a closer relative.

Miss Morse left $10,000 to Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, pastor of the First Universalist Church at Lowell, of which she was a member. She also left $40,000 to Donald A. McKenzie, who resides with Rev. Mr. Fisher, and is a well-known Texas estate man. He handled Miss Morse's business affairs before her death. Another $10,000 was bequeathed to Louise P. Holden of Lowell.

It is understood that undue influence will be charged. Only witnesses to the will were called to testify. They said Miss Morse was apparently of sound mind when the will was drawn.

IF BACK HURTS TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Says Backache is sure sign you have been eating too much meat.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

EXPORT COTTON SHOWS 50 PER CENT. GAIN

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 4. — Notwithstanding the semi-failure of the cotton crop, exports of cotton have increased approximately 50 per cent, as compared to the amount of last year.

The department of commerce announced today that since August 1 cotton exports amounted to 903,519 bales, as compared with 655,119 bales for the entire cotton year of 1915.

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 4.—A billion-dollar cotton crop for this season is predicted by Henry H. Pope, president of the Farmers' Union Presidents' Association, in a statement issued commenting upon the ginners' report issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Mr. Pope's statement says:

"Every indication now points to a billion-dollar crop, if promptly marketed. The highest aggregate amount received for any crop heretofore was in 1911, which brought the farmers nearly $900,000,000. We are now ginning over 200,000 bales per day. On this rate the present crop will be practically out of the field by October 20. If the farmer will market the remainder of the crop slowly it will sell for 10 cents."

BEARS FAIL TO DEPRESS THE MARKET

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange were higher at noon, notwithstanding an attempt by bearish traders to depress the market shortly after the opening. The volume of business indicated another million-share day.

New high records were made by American Beet Sugar at 89¾, Central Leather at 75⅞ and Norfolk & Western at 140⅝. New York Air Brake at 162½ registered a new high price for this year.

Industrial stocks showed fractional losses at noon. United States Steel, the market's leading speculative medium, was off ⅛ at 117⅞. After having been as high as 118.

Influenced by favorable reports of earnings, rails showed pronounced strength. In addition to Norfolk & Western's high record, New York Central moved up ⅞ to 111⅝, only ⅛ below its high price for the year. Illinois Central was up a point.

BOSTON MARKET IRREGULAR.

Other gains at noon were: New York Air Brake 2⅜, Central Leather 2⅝, American Steel Foundry 2⅜ and Studebaker 1⅜.

The Boston market was irregular at noon. Actively developed in the coal companies, Lehigh and Island Creek, the former advancing a point and the latter two points.

Swift & Company made another high record at 104, up two points. United Shoe advanced 1¾. Zinc stocks were quiet.

Copper stocks were weak. U. S. Smelting and Old Dominion each yielded a point and Atlantic Gulf 1⅛.

Buying of railway equipment stock was again based on knowledge that large foreign orders for locomotives, cars and other equipment were being placed.

Astute traders today declared the enormous earnings of the steel companies were bound to result in further advance of the price of the stocks.

WARNS OF RISE IN THE PRICE OF COAL

Winter cannot be far off, for the current Coal Trade Journal contains its warning, regularly printed when the time comes to burn coal, that that commodity is likely to go up in price.

The mine operators are hard put to it these days, says the article, to get enough coal to supply all the dealers because many of the easiest coal veins have been exhausted. Labor is short, too.

Few suspected during the dickering last Spring over wages and hours between the United Mine Workers of America and the mine operators that if more pay was granted for shorter hours the public would have to pay for the increase. But it is so, according to the Coal Trade Journal.

"My husband's limb above the ankle broke out with a rash which itched all the time. His ankle was inflamed and his clothing bothered him terribly so I used to bandage it. There would be drops of water start on it like drops of sweat. It was eczema, and it used to awaken him in the night it would itch so.

"I saw the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised and sent for it. The trouble began to get better, and we used a large-sized cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Howard Robinson, Perry, Me., January 21, 1916.

What Cuticura Soap and Ointment did for Mr. Robinson it will do for you if you are suffering day and night from eczema, rashes, pimples or other skin troubles. Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Nine Tenths of All Stomach Trouble Due to Acidity Says New York Physician.

A well-known New York physician who has made a special study of stomach and intestinal diseases recently made the startling statement that nearly all intestinal trouble, as well as many diseases of the vital organs, are directly traceable to excessive stomach acidity commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn which not only irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach but may often cause gastritis and dangerous stomach ulcers.

Neglect, he says, easily leads to a chronic super-acidity, commonly mistaken for indigestion and is the principal cause for the indiscriminate swallowing of the various so-called patent digestive aids which bring only temporary and false relief.

In an acid condition of the stomach no artificial digestants whatever should be employed, as these are likely to merely pass the sour, burning mass into the intestines, causing serious trouble there. Instead he recommends the use of some simple, harmless and inexpensive antacid such as a teaspoonful of plain sturated magnesia, taken with a little hot or cold water right after meals or whenever distress is felt.

This simple remedy in just a few seconds from its entering the stomach neutralizes or sweetens all the sour acid contents. Dissolve the dangerous acidity and there will be no need for medicine as all symptoms of indigestion will promptly cease. Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach or indigestion should get a few ounces of the pure bisurated magnesia from their druggist and give this treatment a trial. In view, however, of the many varieties of magnesia used for various purposes, stomach sufferers should be careful to get it only in the bisurated form (either powder or tablets) and in a sealed package to insure its purity.

BEER SPILLS ON JUDGE; FINED $50

Whether some liquor seized by Malden police officers was beer or root beer was a problem that developed in Judge Bruce's court. Judge Riley, representing the defendant, Pasquale Migolisi of Pearl street, Malden, thought it smelled like root beer, but when he opened a bottle and the foam went up his sleeve, Judge Bruce remarked that he understood beer was good stuff when it foamed. He fined Migolisi $50.

ORDER TROOP A TO RETURN HOME

Troop A of the Massachusetts cavalry squadron—known under the old militia regime as the Lancers—will be sent home from the Mexican border as soon as Michigan troops, which have been ordered South, arrive at the border, according to dispatches today from Washington.

The dispatch said that as the Michigan contingent arrived the following National Guard organizations would be sent to their home stations for mustering out:

Troop A, Massachusetts Cavalry; First Kansas Infantry; Troop M, Rhode Island Cavalry; Company A, Pennsylvania Engineers; New Jersey Signal Company; First Connecticut Ambulance Company; New Jersey First Ambulance Company and First Field Hospital.

The Lancers is the only Massachusetts body included in the list. Why Troop A happened to be picked for return home is not explained, unless the selection is made alphabetically. Nor is there any mention of other troops or other Bay State units coming back soon.

Troop A, Captain John Kenny, has its headquarters in the new Commonwealth Armory, next to Brewer Field, which is the headquarters of the entire cavalry squadron.

The Washington dispatches added that Secretary Baker said all national guard troops now in mobilization camps would be sent to the border "in the immediate future," and in each instance organizations on the border would be returned to their home stations upon the arrival of new units.

A Daylight Scenic Trip to California

When you go to California you pass all the interesting points if you go via the BURLINGTON. A good-natured, well-informed guide is in charge of these "PERSONALLY CONDUCTED" PARTIES. He tells you all about the interesting things that you come across on this daylight route. He not only acts as guide, but he looks after all your personal comforts, and anticipates your wants. Altogether, he acts as host for the C. B. & Q. Railroad. He makes you feel at home—the way a real host should.

You understand, of course, that there's no extra charge for all this; as a matter of fact, this trip is a bargain that you cannot afford to miss.

If you will send me your address on a postal, I'll send you some mighty interesting reading matter and maps and a bunch of pictures on the parts of the West that you care most about. Or it would be better still if you could drop in at the office and get them, and then we could talk over your trip. If you'll do that, I'll give you my whole attention.

BODY OF PRIEST TO LIE IN STATE

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for the Rev. John M. Corrigan of St. Catherine's Church, Norwood, who died at the Carney Hospital. The services will be conducted at St. Catherine's Church.

The body will lie in state in the church at Norwood this afternoon and evening. A solemn high mass will be celebrated Thursday morning, Bishop Anderson will attend the high mass.

AGED MAN AND WIFE OVERCOME BY GAS

Lying on the floor, side by side, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Powderly, each seventy-five years old, were found unconscious in their room on Harrison avenue, by Mrs. Alice Murphy, a neighbor. Gas was escaping from an open burner in a gas stove, nearby. The couple had evidently made an effort to reach to reach the windows when they fell. They were taken to the City Hospital.

ARREST 35 MEN IN CHELSEA RAID

Thirty-five men were arrested, early today, charged with gambling, when the building at No. 15 Fifth street, Chelsea, was raided by J. Frank Chase, secretary of the Watch and Ward Society, assisted by six of his men and Chelsea police officers.

The raid was one of the largest ever conducted in the city. Chase was armed with a search warrant which had been granted to him by Clerk Joseph M. Curley of the Chelsea Court. Before he visited the house with his own officers, he sought and received assistance from the Chelsea police.

As the raiders were about to enter the house, three men leaped from windows twelve feet above the ground and made their escape.

A man, giving the name of Killory Mullen and claiming to live on Poplar street, Chelsea, and his brother, Edward of Broad street Lynn, have been charged with keeping and maintaining a gaming nuisance. The others are charged with being present where gaming implements were found.

Pool and card tables found in the house were seized. The place has been under suspicion for some time, and, on several occasions, a police officer has been stationed at the door to take the names of those entering the house. No raid has been attempted before, however.

J. Frank Chase says last night's raid is the first move in the effort he will make to clean up Chelsea.

MORTON HALTS ARMY TO REST ANIMALS

By BERT FORD.

Anthony, N. M., Oct. 4, (Via Laguna, Tex.)—At the last minute it was decided by General Charles E. Morton not to move his army of 20,000 men, including 7,500 troops from Massachusetts, to Mesquite, because of the condition of the horses and mules after yesterday's hike of seventeen miles from Montoya. General Morton thought it best to rest the animals and to shoe many of the mules.

Therefore all hands were given a day off. The men enjoyed it. The infantry covered ten miles over another route and finished strong, far better than the animals, which found it hard hauling over much of the way.

WILL HAVE SHAM BATTLE.

Tomorrow General Morton's division will meet in a frontal attack the theoretical Red army which was supposed to have made a right flank assault yesterday, and he intends to use the three infantry regiments from Massachusetts in the make-believe assault. Incidentally the General explained today that all water used by animals and men is being hauled from El Paso. He said this would have to be done if a state of war existed with Mexico; that the railroads would have to be followed closely as seized and that the roads and topography now being covered in Texas and New Mexico by his Brown army are as bad as those that could have to be traversed south of the Rio Grande. Despite the strong positions of the enemy, which was supposed to have hurled its phantom foe us through the mountain gaps yesterday, the strategy of the Bay State band and supporting organizations saved the day. The forces from Massachusetts, Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, the Carolinas and Tennessee held back the Red cavalry brigade in the mountain gaps until their artillery and wagon train, led by the cavalry as patrols and skirmishers, escaped to the left bank of the Rio Grande and the main column of the Browns, consisting of brigades of infantry, pushed on in parallel column on the right bank.

ARREST 47 STRAGGLERS.

Ten miles the "dough boys" tramped through clouds of dust in detours from the main highway. A charitable wind made the sun easier to bear. Considering the heat and rough roads in places, very few of the "dough boys" lagged and there were fewer from the Bay State regiments than some of the other States. Major Brown of North Carolina, in charge of the provost guard, placed forty-seven straggliers under arrest. He found some of them concealed under coverts along the road. Nine were from Massachusetts. Captain E. Gance of the Keenan's ambulance company treated sixty or more men for blistered feet. Cases of exhaustion were remarkably few.

A problem very similar to one worked out will be tried tomorrow. The artillery and wagon trains, screened by the cavalry, will again move to the opposite side of the river and the infantry on the east bank will repulse a head-on attack. The wagon trains made good progress but there were frequent delays. Bridges were disabled under the strain.

The Massachusetts signal corps set up radio stations in Hobbs and by wireless and road telephone kept all parts of both columns in constant communication.

RUSS SENTENCED TO LIFE IN PRISON

Oscar P. Russ, found guilty of murder in the second degree for killing his wife in their home on Centre street, Jamaica Plain, August 22, 1915, was sentenced by Judge Bell of the Superior Criminal Court to State Prison for life. A stay of sentence was granted to allow counsel for Russ to go to the Supreme Court on exceptions.

William H. Childs, forty-six, of Shirley street, Winthrop, ticket taker at a Winthrop theatre, attempted suicide at his home by shooting through the right temple. He was taken to the Metcalf Hospital, where it was reported he probably will die. Despondency, due to ill-health, was assigned as the cause of the shooting.

PLANT JUICE WAS BLESSING TO HER

Prominent Melrose Highlands Lady Claims the New Remedy Restored Her Health

The difference between an unhealthy woman and her healthy sister is easily marked. The one is anaemic, pale, white-lipped, thin-cheeked, with dull eyes, a drooping figure and lack-lustre hair. The other is full-figured and rosy-cheeked, with bright eyes and a clear skin. Her lips are ruddy, her movements graceful, and she is full of nerve and life. Health certainly means all in all to woman—beauty, success and happiness—everything. Plant Juice has done more to restore the strength and health to people in this section than any other preparation ever placed on the market, as is attested by the numbers of signed testimonials from well-known local people.

MRS. CASSIE ROGERS

A recent statement from Mrs. Cassie Rogers of No. 22 Sargent street, Melrose Highlands, who is well known socially, will be of interest. She said:

"For six years I have suffered with stomach trouble, which took the form of indigestion and dyspepsia. All my food fermented in my stomach and caused gas to form; I was badly bloated, and the pains all over my body I could not sleep at night, had headaches, dizzy spells, palpitation of the heart, and felt very weak and run down. I could not take any solid food into my stomach, and had to live on tea, toast, milk and soups. My skin became very yellow, and my liver was also badly affected. I had taken different kinds of medicine for years which gave me no permanent relief, and the only real benefit I got was when I began to take Plant Juice. I have no more headaches, can sleep well, and eat any kind of food I want, without the slightest distress. Plant Juice has entirely relieved me and I am glad to recommend it to others. My complexion has cleared up beautifully, and I never felt so well in my life."

The Plant Juice Man is at The Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

SAYS HOT WATER EACH DAY KEEPS THE DOCTOR AWAY

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, spitting headaches, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, pneumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

Used Resinol For Bad Skin-Trouble

Considers Her Cure Remarkable

June 25.—"For almost six months I suffered from a severe case of skin-trouble on my leg between the ankle and knee. It began by swelling, with severe pains day and night, followed by constant itching. My leg then became inflamed, and later water blisters and pimply sores broke out on it. At this time my leg was at least one-third above its normal size, and the continual itching and burning sensation was something terrible. I applied many remedies, but gained no relief until I commenced using Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, from which I obtained relief the first application. I then continued use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap the swelling was reduced, the itching and burning were entirely relieved and a complete cure was effected, having used only three jars of Resinol Ointment and two cakes of Resinol Soap. My trouble sure was serious, and I consider the cure remarkable." (Signed) Mrs. H. W. Nestus, 825 Pearson St., Greensboro, N. C.

All druggists sell Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For samples, free, write to Dept. 4-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—Advertisement.

HALE IS DENIED LIST OF 40,000 MOOSERS

How Chairman Matthew Hale of the Progressive State Committee has been denied the use of a mailing list of 40,000 formerly enrolled Progressives became known today.

The list is in the possession of Patrick J. Anglin, a former employe of the Progressive State Committee.

Anglin, who refuses to give up the list to Hale, is now in the employ of the Hughes Alliance of Massachusetts.

COUNSEL RETAINED.

It was learned that Hale, with the consent of the Progressive leaders, applied for the list to Chairman B. Loring Young and Chairman of the Executive Committee Walter Foster of the Hughes Alliance, with the understanding that he would hold the list open "to anybody who desires to use it."

Young agreed to the proposition, but after a week had passed and the list was not forthcoming Hale telephoned to Young, who informed him that "Mr. Anglin holds the list and has retained a lawyer."

Anglin this week wrote Hale a letter saying that he would place the list in a bank vault where it would be accessible to only Anglin and Treasurer Lawrence G. Brooks of the Progressive State Committee.

IN HUGHES ALLIANCE.

Mr. Brooks is a member of the Hughes Alliance.

Secretary Alexander Bunwart of the Woodrow Wilson Independent League said today he was informed that "the list was offered to the Democratic State Committee several weeks ago but the committee was not in a position to take advantage of the offer."

It is reported that the list was also offered to the secretary of a Boston Democratic congressman by a man who represented that he was the accredited agent of "the man who has the list."

It is said that when the Progressive State Committee gave up its Boston headquarters, Chairman Hale, Treasurer Brooks and Anglin agreed that the latter should take care of the list "for the time being."

ANGLIN'S STATEMENT.

"Any statement or suggestion that this list was offered to the Democratic State Committee is absolutely false," Mr. Anglin said today. "A great many persons knew I had this list and it may be that somebody tried to deliver something they could not obtain.

"Equally false is the suggestion that the Hughes Alliance has either seen this list or made use of it. This list is the property of the Progressive Party. It does not belong to me, neither does it belong to Mr. Hale. I am still a Progressive. Mr. Hale will find if he could get the list it would be open to any political party, but I took the ground that this would be wrongfully exploiting Progressive voters. Every Progressive with whom I have talked on the matter agrees with my stand.

"Chester R. Lawrence, the Prohibition candidate for Governor, is a member of our party and he has just as much right to that list as Mr. Hale has. Yet I met Mr. Lawrence on the street yesterday and he told me that he agreed thoroughly with my position in the matter."

MOTHER JONES SEES INDUSTRIAL REVOLT

New York, Oct. 4.—"Mother Jones" of world-wide fame as the friend of the worker, today declared in an interview that when the eight-hour law came up in the Supreme Court there would be the greatest industrial revolution the world had ever seen. "Capital" she said, "will spend millions of dollars to prevent the eight-hour-law from becoming effective. Labor likewise will put up its greatest fight in defense of it."

The "At Home" of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dewey, Jr., now on their wedding trip, has been fixed for New Year's Day, when the young couple will receive at their new home, No. 24 Rawson road, Brookline.

Much interest surrounded the wedding of this couple. It was held in the First Unitarian Church at West Newton. Mrs. Dewey, who was Marjorie Dunster Talbot, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Talbot of Newtonville, was given away by her father, with the Rev. Julian C. Jaynes officiating.

Mrs. William Salter Carleton was matron-of-honor and the following were bridesmaids: The Misses Hester Smith, Margaret Merrill, Ruth Pecker, Elizabeth Beason, Helen Smith, Catherine E. Hamilton and Phyllis Cahill.

How To Get Rid Of Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness or Head Noises

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms can be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). This will not cost you more than a dollar. Take this home and add to it ½ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. A decided improvement is sometimes noted after the first dose. Hawking, throat trouble becomes easy, while the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., usually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and nose dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which are often overcome by this effective home treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all catarrhal ills are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.—Advertisement.

GRAND JURY HEARS DR. BAKER'S CASE

Plymouth, Oct. 4—The case of Dr. Ralph Baker, the Marshfield dentist, who shot and killed his friend, William Cushing of Green Harbor yesterday, was presented to the Plymouth Grand Jury today. The shooting took place in the morning. Dr. Baker was arraigned the same day and held on a charge of murder for the Grand Jury.

Of the twenty witnesses from Marshfield and Green Harbor who came to the courthouse today to testify on the shooting, one of the most important was Mrs. Robert Hunt, eyewitness to the crime.

Cushing was at the back door of the Hunt house when, according to the story told by Mrs. Hunt, Dr. Baker shot him. Mrs. Hunt demanded and secured Baker's gun. Baker returned to his own house, where he was arrested after a struggle by Deputy Sheriff Lysander Sherman.

The dentist was brought to Plymouth jail to await the disposition of his case by the Grand Jury. He is in charge of Sheriff Henry S. Porter. Today the prisoner was reported as comparatively calm.

REFUSE TO HOLD DYESTUFF REPORT

Washington, Oct. 4.—The census of the American dyestuff industry recently completed by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce will not be entirely suppressed despite protests by American importers connected with the German chemical monopoly, Secretary of Commerce Redfield announced today. The census report has been temporarily withdrawn from publication pending investigation of complaints asserting that the publication of details of the German-American importing business would be a violation of business confidence.

ROCKWOOD'S PLAN FOUGHT BY HOGAN

Councilor William M. Hogan of Cambridge opened an aggressive campaign to defeat Mayor Wendell D. Rockwood's plan to discontinue the election of Cambridge assessors by citizens and have them appointed by the Mayor.

The proposed change is to be voted on by Cambridge voters at the next State election. The referendum was recommended by Mayor Rockwood and several other citizens, according to a resolution in city council by Hogan.

"The assessors have been elected by the people ever since Cambridge became a city in 1846," said Councilor Hogan today, "and I am strongly opposed to any change which will secure their appointment by the Mayor."

Councilor Hogan's resolution opposing the proposed change was adopted by city council, and today he declared he would devote his efforts to awakening citizens to the effort to deprive them of their privilege of electing assessors.

MILITARY COURSE OPEN AT HARVARD

The Harvard faculty have let the bars down to freshmen in the new course in military science. Any member of the entering class who receives the combined approval of Captain Constant Cordier, head of the military department, and Professor C. P. Parker, chairman of the committee on electives, can register.

The present enrollment in the course is 217, which is 900 less than the enlistment in the regiment last Winter when military study was voluntary.

Harvard now grants a full course toward a university degree to the men who satisfactorily complete the course. "Although the fact that no additional fee is charged for taking military science and tactics may prove an incentive for electing this course at the expense of some other," Professor Parker says "I shall not as a rule be disposed to admit any under these circumstances."

L. & N. Must Reveal Political Deals

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The District of Columbia Supreme Court this afternoon ordered Milton H. Smith, president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, to comply with demands by the Interstate Commerce Commission that he reveal the railroad's entire relationship with political leaders in States through which the railroad runs.

The order was given in a decision of a suit brought by the commission to compel Mr. Smith to reveal facts concerning the railroad's alleged political activities growing out of charges filed with the commission by United States Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee, that the railroad company was bribing State officials in the South and obtaining "favorable" State railroad laws.

Woolley After Short-Weight Men

Sealer of Weights and Measures Charles B. Woolley today invited the housewives of Boston to report to him any short-weights in the coal delivered to them for Winter use. A force of nine inspectors is daily at work inspecting the coal deliveries. Mr. Woolley said his department is given its greatest troubles by the small dealers. They recently found one dealer putting in a "ton" that weighed up 300 pounds short. He said that the "big" dealers usually over-weigh the coal, to make up any loss of weight that may occur by coal dropping from the delivery wagons.

$384,490,000 IN GOLD IMPORTS

Washington, Oct. 4.—Gold imported into the United States from January 1 to September 22 amounted to $384,490,000, the Federal Reserve Board has announced, while in the same period the exports were $93,000,000. In the same period last year the imports exceeded the exports by $247,171,000. More than $102,000,000 of the amount imported this year was in foreign coin and about $266,000,000 in bullion.

FAIL TO FIND CLEW TO MISSING GIRL

Sadie Elizabeth Williams, sixteen, daughter of Mrs. Lilian M. Williams of No. 881 Somerville avenue, Somerville, has been missing since September 17.

The girl, in company with her mother, left home early in the evening to visit the girl's grandmother, Mrs. S. J. White of No. 64 Clark street, Cambridge. Later she went out with her cousins, Gertrude White, aged eleven, and Sadie White, aged nine. The cousins returned to their home next door and left Sadie, as they thought, entering her grandmother's house. She did not return to the house.

The girl is described as being five feet two inches tall, weighing about 125 pounds. She has light brown hair, dark brown eyes and is of fair complexion. She was dressed in a dark blue serge suit with a green collar, the sleeves of which were also faced with green. The coat was trimmed with about four dozen dark pearl buttons. She wore a signet ring with the initials S. E. W. and a gold locket with the same initials, S. E. W.

Mrs. Lilian Williams, the girl's mother, says that she knows of no reason why the girl should leave as her home life was happy. On the day she disappeared she left all of her money at home and had none with her when she went out.

The girl worked at a bookbinding plant in Cambridgeport and was a member of the entertainment committee of Puritan Lodge No. 5, N. E. O. P., of Cambridge.

CHARGE WOULD BE SOLDIER LEFT WIFE

New York, Oct. 4.—A charge of abandonment of his wife and two children in Clinton, Mass., today thwarted the plan of Stamasos Chiazaros of that town, to sail for Greece and fight for his king and country. His wife had notified the police after Chiazaros had left his home last Saturday.

WOMAN JUMPS TO DEATH FROM ROOF

According to the police, Daniel Hurley, her husband, missed his wife and went up to the roof in search of her. He was too late, and saw instead his wife on the ground in the back yard.

ORDWAY SETTLES GIRL'S LOVE SUIT

Newburyport, Oct. 4.—The breach of promise case of Marion R. Mooney, twenty-one, of Newbury, against Alfred A. Ordway, seventy, a wealthy shoe manufacturer of Haverhill, ended unexpectedly in the Superior Court here today, when counsel in the case announced to Judge William P. Dana, that a settlement had been effected out of court.

The case promised to be one of unusual interest and at the opening of the court Monday there were twenty-five witnesses and a court filled with women.

The two became acquainted at Byfield, where the Ordways have a Summer home, Miss Mooney being a resident there. The suit was for $30,000.

The terms of the settlement were not made public by counsel but it is known that an offer for a large sum was refused before the final agreement between counsel.

GAS for Water Heating

The Test

Recent tests of the ordinary gas water heater attached to the kitchen boiler gave the following results:

Starting with cold water at 44 degrees, at the end of five minutes 2.83 gallons of water were drawn, at an average temperature of 115 degrees.

At the end of 20 minutes, 18.5 gallons of water were drawn, at an average temperature of 104 degrees.

The Application

This is what we mean when we talk about hot water service.

Some types of gas water heaters are instantaneous and give hot water immediately, acting automatically with the opening of the faucet, but the above type serves the purpose ordinarily desired. The water is heated at the top of the boiler, so you do not have to wait to heat the whole boiler just to get a little hot water.

These gas water heaters may take the place of the water-back on the coal range or may be used in conjunction with it.

These heaters are on display at our Appliance Stores and Display Rooms. Your inquiry and investigation are solicited.

Fans Ready for Series

Ticket Slips Sent Out

By JOHN W. MORAN, JR.

All Boston is ready for the World's Series. Both the Red Sox and the fans are anxiously awaiting the hour that will start them off on the big classic. Bill Carrigan and his champions are passing an easy day, resting as one might say with just enough light work on the taps to keep them in shape.

Babe Ruth, who seems destined to hurl the opening game, is about town as unconcerned as though he were down in his Baltimore cafe watching the nickels roll in.

Meanwhile President Lannin and the big staff of clerks are up to their ears in work. Those who were fortunate enough to secure tickets have already engaged the big march on the park offices.

TICKET APPLICATIONS MAILED.

All through last night and until early this morning the staff was busy completing the task of making the allotments. When all was practically done the letters were slipped into the mail at 3 o'clock this morning.

This afternoon Manager Mike Ryan of the club will work out at Braves Field. The work will be light. Just enough of it to accustom the outfielders to the sun condition.

Then the hitters will take their own; turn the plate to accustom themselves to the conditions regarding which we have heard so much. The fans and the skyline is still there. It remains to be seen whether or not these conditions will distract the Red Sox and Robins in the big clash.

The first game of the big clash is scheduled for Saturday, October 7, at Braves Field. Then comes another game on Monday afternoon at the same place. The next two will be played Tuesday and Wednesday at Ebbets Field, and then if a fifth is necessary the two teams come back to Boston for a Columbus Day game.

Providing a sixth is ordered, they return to Brooklyn, and then, in the event of a seventh being required, a coin will be tossed to decide the place in which it will be played.

The National Commission held its meeting yesterday to complete arrangements for the big clash. As a result of that meeting it has been definitely decided that the series will open next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Braves' Field, Commonwealth avenue, Allston. John Lannin has won one battle and now it remains for Bill Carrigan to land the second game. The second game is scheduled for Monday afternoon at the same park and then the scene shifts.

Both sets of athletes take their grips in hand and hike for New York with Brooklyn the ultimate destination. The games there are scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday and if a fifth game be necessary the clubs return to Boston for a Columbus Day game up at the Home of Big Things.

One hurdle was cleared yesterday at the meeting as to just what will happen once the games gets under way. There will appear, however, as though more than four games will be necessary to decide the big affair.

BLEACHER TICKET OFFICES.

One definite announcement has been made which in the minds of some experts is favorably considered. It is that during the big series four ticket offices will be maintained on the Babcock street end of the Park for the convenience of third base bleacher patrons. These seats will sell for $1 and those who buy tickets there will be expected to enter the field at once.

Four windows for the sale of these tickets will be opened on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and immediately after the windows are opened and the sale starts the gates will be thrown open. Turnstiles will be erected at that point and the fans will file by two at a time to their best seats. This will take care of slightly more than 10,000 persons who would otherwise use the old Gaffney street. In addition the lucky ticket winners may be able to get the tickets there will unquestionably be more than half as many more taken by those in the main grandstand.

The regular grandstand and reserved set entrances will work as usual. The Commonwealth avenue center from Gaffney street and the rush order will apply there as will be the case on Babcock street. These windows will probably open early in the day and the ticket getters will be forced to enter at once. The belief is held that by doing things in this way there will be no big crowds early in the day when the regular grandstand patrons arrive.

POLICE ARRANGEMENTS.

Captains Thomas F. Goode of the Back Bay station and Forrest F. Hall of the Brighton station will have full charge of all police arrangements. Likewise they will keep the ticket holders and those in line moving to the ticket going. They have decided that absolutely no vehicles will be allowed to park anywhere on Commonwealth avenue. If a person have his car standing on the avenue the police will tow it to a garage and store it there at the owners' expense. Chauffeurs and others will be permitted to drive up, drop their passengers and then drive off.

Commonwealth avenue will be blocked to all outward bound traffic from Commonwealth avenue and Beacon street, after three o'clock on the day of the game. Traffic will be maintained going in but no coming out. Immediately before the close of the Boston games the two big taxicab companies will be permitted to bring their machines into Commonwealth avenue and stand them against the electric car reservation on the wrong side of the street for the convenience of their patrons.

All signs point toward this World's Series being the choicest in which any set of players, magnate or the National Commission has ever participated. At Brooklyn extra seats will be erected until close to 35,000 persons can be accommodated. At Braves Field without building additional seats more than 40,000 can be taken care of.

The 1912 series in which the Red Sox and Giants participated holds the attendance record. In that series the biggest crowd they were able to get into the Polo Grounds was about 35,000 people. At Fenway Park they were able to get but a few more than 30,000 into the enclosure. Thus it can be seen that the present arrangement provides the opportunity for breaking the record. Whether it will be broken remains to be seen. It is our guess that the figures go soaring, for regardless of personal feeling for Ebbets, there surely will be enough fans on hand to fill the Flatbush stadium and as to Boston there's no question.

RED SOX WORKOUT.

For the purpose of keeping in condition and also for getting a better understanding on the playing field the Red Sox will in all probability take a light workout at Braves Field sometime today. Tomorrow a majority of them, together with Connie Mack's selection, will go to Worcester for the benefit game, the proceeds of which will go to the John H. Gaffney Memorial Fund.

Friday night Carrigan's athletes will retire early to rest for the big clash which will come on the morrow. Today they are practically in perfect condition. That, of course, excludes Jack Barry and George Foster, neither of whom can be said to be in proper shape at this time. Barry may be in the big clash and again he may not. At this writing that he will rest and only get into the fray as a result of the most urgent necessity.

Rain or fire may keep the teams in Boston over Monday, but if the two games are played according to schedule they will come to Ebbets Field on Tuesday. The same rule applies to the games on the Brooklyn grounds.

The meeting of the National Commission was attended by President H. H. Johnson of the American League; President John K. Tener of the National League; August Herrmann, secretary of the board; C. J. Lannin, president of the Boston (American League) club; C. H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn club, and W. F. Baker, president of the Philadelphia Nationals.

ADOPT LANNIN'S SUGGESTION.

At the same time the meeting convened the result of the National League pennant race was still uncertain and arrangements to cover a possible victory by the Philadelphia club were also made. These, of course, go into the discard.

Instead of tossing a coin, as in former years, to decide where the first games of the series should be played, the Commission accepted the proposal of President Lannin that the opening be held in Boston, owing to the great seating capacity of the National League field, while the American Leaguers have obtained for the series.

It was also pointed out that several days will be required for the Brooklyn management to erect overflow stands and that playing the first two games in Boston would be to the benefit of the Brooklyn club.

A proposal by President Baker of the Philadelphia club that the series begin next Monday instead of Saturday, was voted down, as was the suggestion that Friday be made the day of the start.

MEANT UNNECESSARY DELAY.

The first plan, it was pointed out, would cause an unnecessary delay, while the second would cause the National League contender too little time to rest after the grueling grind of the pennant race.

A proposal to play in the American and National League cities on alternate days also was lost, although the Commission decided if more than two games were required for a decision, the fifth and sixth should be played one in each city.

The Commission adjourned early in order to be present at the game between the Brooklyn and Giants, which, together with the double death of Philadelphia, resulted in the pennant for the Dodgers.

Adjournment was taken without making public the names of the umpires who will officiate in the series at $1,000 each.

Later in the day, however, after it had been made certain that Brooklyn was the pennant winner, it was announced that William Dinneen and Thomas Connolly would represent the American League and "Hank" O'Day and Quigley the National League.

MEET HERE ON FRIDAY.

The Commission will meet in Boston Friday to arrange final details. Before adjourning the officials gave out a list of the players eligible to compete in the series and a scale of prices for seats, and appointed J. G. Taylor Spink of St. Louis, as official scorer.

PLAYING THE WORLD'S SERIES WITH HUGH S. FULLERTON

Here is the tenth of a series of expert articles on the World's Series games by Hugh S. Fullerton, the celebrated baseball statistician, in which he compares the pitchers who are to take part in the great title contests. Fullerton's World's Series stories will be a feature of the daily and Sunday AMERICAN.

PITCHERS.

Red Sox	204	847	1051
	AGAINST RED SOX. Offence value.	Defence value.	Total.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

We are down to short hairs, boys.

The Red Sox have looked a trifle superior to their opponents of the National League all through the dope, not in every position, but as a team, considering subs, regulars and all, they are a better ball club and perhaps the best in the world. Yet not at one spot in the dope did they show enough superiority to overcome a run of luck or the breaks of the game until we reach the batmen.

In pitching the Red Sox pile up a huge majority in the figures, and the dope shows clearly how they win and keep on winning. One has but to study the work of the pitchers to understand why Boston can play with such confidence. They outclass their National League rivals, Wilbert Robinson's Brooklyn team, on the slab by a tremendous percentage.

This explains, in great part, the confidence with which Carrigan's team tackles any opponent. What club would not be confident when it knows it possesses the attacking strength to score almost surely four runs per game, while it has the pitching power to hold opponents to an average of under two and a half?

In doping pitchers for an entire season, we would be compelled, in order to ascertain the entire team strength, to study all the pitchers. But, for the purpose of a series such as the coming one, it is necessary to change that system somewhat.

Carrigan has five pitchers who can work in turn, if necessary, and it would be hard for him to make a blunder. His problem is the simple one of knowing which ones are in the best condition for that particular day. Carrigan must merely study the batting style of the opposing team, and select men who work best against that style of hitting.

It is due to this fact, as well as to the batting power of the Brooklyn team, that we find, in studying the Red Sox strength against the Dodgers, we come across some more eccentricities in the dope.

The only chance I can see of one of the Red Sox pitchers weakening would be that he was overworked during of over-confidence. They made a show of the Phillies last Fall in all the games save one. We recall that the Athletics made this mistake with the Chicago Nationals and did not recover from the shock until they were licked.

GLOOMY OUTLOOK FOR DODGERS.

Brooklyn's pitchers, of course, make the worst sort of a showing against the Red Sox in the dope. You may put it down in the book now that the Red Sox will hit Brooklyn's pitchers with terrific force, far harder than they would have hit Mordecai Brownes, even in their worn and wearied condition. And you may rest assured that the Brooklyn aggregation will bat the great Red Sox pitchers with no more success than the Phils ever would do. That team can hit.

It is an erratic, uncertain and weird aggregation of ball players, but, when they start busting that ball, they hold coronation ceremonies on the pitcher.

The problem is the old one of finding twisters who can stop a hitting crew. The Brooklyns perhaps would find one or more of Boston's pitching powers to their liking, but Carrigan's tremendous reserve strength enables him to change twisters without weakening his team or hurting the confidence of his regulars. In other words, he can count on stopping batting rallies.

The Dodgers have perhaps the oddest pitching staff in the country, and its boast of beating the Red Sox lies in three men—Jack Coombs, Big Pfeffer and Rube Marquard. It would seem strange for Coombs to climb his form back by defeating the team which he used to give such hard battles.

I have been back over the records, and, if Coombs is, as they claim, as good a pitcher as he was when he won pennants for Mack, he will give the Red Sox a terrific battle, even with the erratic and uncertain support of his panicky team.

Marquard has shown magnificent stuff this season and is one of the leaders in his league. His opponents have scored only about 1.7 runs a game off him, which indicates that he is far from all in. It is a saying in the American League that a good left-hander can stop the Red Sox.

PFEFFER LEADS ROBBIE'S STAFF.

But Pfeffer, although he has been tagged pretty hard, is the best pitcher in the Brooklyn outfit. The Red Sox have not had a chance to study him much, and on those three twisters Brooklyn's World's Championship hopes rest. The others, save Larry Cheney, are scarcely worth observing, and the Red Sox have hit spitters that make Cheney's look tame.

Now we must get down to the brass tacks. Naturally it is no use studying pitchers unless they are going to work in the series. We must dope the twisters, of course, in order to find out how strongly each one is against the opposing batting team. But to get at the result we must figure which pitcher will work against which. This is what makes the World's Series doping so touch.

If I knew now which pitchers would start against each other in every game, I'd take the laundry and butter money and get rich. It would be a cinch. The managers will not tell us. In fact, in such a series it is the custom of wise managers to conceal their plans, not only to keep the opponents guessing, but also to head off the gamblers.

Brooklyn, to be consistent, will have to open with Pfeffer or Coombs. As Carrigan's plans of campaign, it probably will be to open with Shore should go to Lewis and Hooper.

Then the choice between Henriksen, Walsh, Shorten or Wagner is a matter, on paper, of one containing Wheat, Myers and Stengel or Johnston.

COAST NINE IS COMING.

Middletown, Ct., Oct. 4.—Leland Stanford, Jr., University of California will be Wesleyan's opponent at the Commencement baseball game here on June 19 next.

BAN'S SECRETARY HERE.

One of the important early baseball arrivals in Boston for the World's Series is William Harridge of Chicago, Ban Johnson's secretary.

Good Machinery Is Better After a Little Careful Use

You have often heard said that a Packard is not at its best until it has run a few thousand miles. There are Packards today running well after 150,000 miles.

Our wealthy patrons trade because of style, not condition. Right now is the time to select a Twin-Six run only a few thousand miles and in best of condition. A month's delay is a month's more mileage. If you have any idea of buying a car during the next six months, now is the ideal time. Let us know if we can give you a ride.

DODGERS RECEIVE BACKING

Brooklyn "Fans" Support Favorites as Betting Opens in N.Y., With Six 9-5 Choice.

By FRANK G. MENKE
Sporting Editor International News Service.

New York, Oct. 4.—Odds of 9-5 that the Red Sox will beat the Dodgers in the World's series batting were offered here today. The supporters of the Brooklyn warriers found them to their liking and snapped up the Boston offerings with considerable eclat.

Now that the identity of the participants in the big scrap has been established the experts have decided that the Red Sox have the advantage. First of all, they declare that the experience the Sox have gained in World "Seriesing" will be a distinct "bulge" for them.

The Sox, as everybody knows, have done quite a bit of post-season quarrelling. The Dodgers have to make their maiden effort this year.

In pitching department, the majority of critics think the Sox are superior. They admit that Pfeffer, Marquard, Cheney and Coombs make up a sterling staff, but no better than a selection from among Ruth, Shore, Foster and Leonard.

DAUBERT BETTER THAN HOBBY.

At first base Daubert has shown himself better than Hoblitzel. Brooklyn Jake is a real batsman; Hoblitzel is a streak hitter. He never has ranked as a really dangerous clubber. In fielding, Daubert is a wonder. Hoblitzel is a good first baser, while Daubert is one of the best in the game.

At second base, Jack Barry tops Cutshaw. "Black Jack" is one of the brainiest men in the game, a marvelous fielder and a dangerous hitter, especially in clinches. Cutshaw was a great aid in the pennant fight of the Dodgers, but Barry, undoubtedly ranks beyond him. But Barry may not get into the series, in which case Janvrin will play second for Boston.

At shortstop the Sox again have the advantage. Scott, who has been doing most of the work around that neighborhood, isn't a star by any means, yet he seems better than either Olson or Wheat.

At the third corner Gardner outranks Mowrey. "Doc" Topped Mike" has played some flashy ball this year, but Gardner, day in and day out is a better man.

WHEAT CLASS OF FIELDERS.

Meyer and Miller, who have been doing most of the receiving for the Dodgers, are good, but many think Cady and Thomas better.

In the outfield Wheat stands out as the peer. He undoubtedly is the best of the sextet. Whether second and third place in the garden ranking should go to Lewis and Hooper.

Than the choice between Henriksen, Walsh, Shorten or Walker are better than Johnston, Stengel or Myers. Which would seem to say that a combination made up of Hooper, Lewis and Walker, Walsh, Shorten or Henriksen is better, on paper, than one containing Wheat, Myers and Stengel or Johnston.

Marquard First Choice

May Open Big Series

By WILBERT ROBINSON.
Manager of the Champion Brooklyn Dodgers.

Brooklyn, Oct. 4.—The championship is ours, and we're happy! It has been a hard fight, which tested the heart, nerves and the ability of my men. My men have done just what I knew they could and would do. We're ready for the Red Sox. Just now we're looking forward to the World Series.

I shall start either Rube Marquard or Jeff Pfeffer, probably Marquard, in the first game.

The Rube has never pitched better ball than he has in the last few weeks, and my faith in him is unlimited. His nerve is absolutely great and when he goes into the box I feel sure his opponents will be held in check.

I've known Marquard ever since he came to the big league. I've coached him when he was a "rookie." and we've been friends. I know him perfectly and, knowing him, I can depend upon him. The size of a World Series crowd will not affect him. Nor will the most serious baseball situation. If it is possible for him to work himself out of a dangerous situation, he can.

But I can't say definitely that I shall work him in the first game. The probabilities are that I shall, but the developments before we take to the field may cause me to change my mind.

WORKS TODAY.

I shall work him the first three innings against the Giants this afternoon. I shall give him and the rest of my pitchers just enough work to keep all the top of their form, and the same applies to the rest of my players. And when we meet the Red Sox they will be at the top.

I do not remember a race which has been fraught with as much interest and has had so many different angles and possibilities.

My team went out into the lead early in the season. We played a consistent brand of baseball. We did not play spectacular ball, but day in and day out we played ball of a sort which has enabled us to win the pennant. We held on to our lead up to a few weeks ago. Then we lost it. We came back when we thought we had thrown up. My men rallied and we regained the lead. We've done that twice. They've kept ourselves thought and knew we could do.

During the last few weeks I have come to know my men as I have always known them, but I know them now I have absolute faith in them. I feel confident that they will exceed the expectations when they meet the Red Sox.

DODGERS ARE DETERMINED.

I can't say definitely enough for me to say that we'll beat the American League champions. My men will be out there to beat the Red Sox playing their best, but baseball is too uncertain a game to warrant a prediction in a matter like this.

We shall enter the series determined to beat the Red Sox out toward this end I shall give my regulars enough work to keep them on edge. Just now we're not in any too good shape.

Zack Wheat has a bad leg. He has had this bad leg for some time, but he refused to leave the game. Now that the pennant is ours, he can afford to rest. Chief Meyers has a lame wrist, and he, too, will take it easy for the next few days.

We played the American League champions two games early in the Spring and won one of them. They did not impress me then as being an extraordinary team and they do not impress me now as being a team superior.

I have not seen them play since then, but they seem to be a well-rounded team. They have some good pitchers, but so have I. According to the dope, we seem to be evenly matched, and for this reason I expect some mighty close battling.

We had the breaks with us yesterday, but in baseball the winning team almost invariably gets the breaks. Our hitting, though, I think forced those breaks, and we intend to force them against the Red Sox. We got fifteen hits against Benton, Perritt and Smith, and Benton and Perritt have pitched some excellent ball of late—better ball, perhaps, than any of the Boston pitchers.

Stallings Wires Regards to Robbie

Philadelphia, Oct. 4.—Following the settlement of the National League championship Manager Stallings of the Braves wired his congratulations to Manager Wilbert Robinson of the championship Brooklyn club as follows:

"Heartiest congratulations to you and to the members of your club. You have won by good, consistent work and deserve all the good things coming to you. I sincerely hope that you will win the World's championship."

PURPLE SCRUBS SCORE.

Williamstown, Oct. 4.—The Williams varsity struck a snag in the daily scrimmage with the scrubs, falling across the goal line. The second team scored once an intercepted forward pass giving it a touchdown.

Britt Pulls a Surprise

Clearly Bests Shubert

By RINGSIDE.

Fighting a cool, calculating battle, clearly outgeneraling his seasoned antagonist, who has long been pegged with the Queensberry world a premier bantamweights, Young Britt, the 120-pound Portuguese, who calls New Bedford, clons by, his home, received a mdsd. proper decision over Al Shubert, the said noted ring star, and who hails from the same Massachusetts city, at the Boston Arena last night.

Shubert was generally rated just about the one best pugilistic bet of the entire season. Young Britt formerly served as his sparring partner. It didn't look possible, so that the wise-cracking brigade, for the student to have got along so well in his art as to spank his teacher. But he did and completed a thorough job.

The talent installed Shubert a red-hot favorite; a number of the real smart brigade were really looking for a knockout.

Britt beat the barrier. The odds tightened to even money as early as the second round, and at the end of the sixth stanza, the real, big, noisy one of the night, it was a sure thing Britt had enough on Shubert in order to stay in front and thereby gain Larry Conley's award.

Shubert has always been one of the most aggressive battlers in the bantamweight division. He's not the pace with a lot of the best 116-pounders; in fact, practically all of the good ones. He waded into Young Britt in his customary head-down, slam-bang style

BRITT HAD RIGHT BUNCH.

The Portuguese Pippin declared some time ago he would have to every trick in Shubert's stock and that if his fellow townie didn't change his style he was in for a dizzy drubbing. The youngster's chatter sounded like the bunk. What right did a mere beginner in the game have to criticise his former tutor, especially considering that Shubert has battled with ecist in all four corners of the land.

Today Britt must be credited with having given out none but true, legitimate facts when he said he was his old boss' master.

The twelve-round number, while no particular riot, contained considerable action. In spots, noticeably the sixth round, which was Britt's, and the ninth, when Shubert tried to stage his come-on and evade the almost sure defeat that stared him in the face, the big crowd was treated to plenty of thrills.

FOUGHT LIKE A VETERAN.

Britt showed a very snappy right hand. He countered like a past-master of the art. What's more, he bunched his hits. Careful not to waste any steam by doing any unnecessary slapping, Britt put considerable stuff behind practically every lead and truth it is he did but little missing.

Both boys made weight, coming in at 120 pounds at 9 p. m. Evidently that's the best notch Britt can make. Too bad the urchin isn't some four pounds lighter.

Were he an out-and-out 116-pounder the bantamweight championship would certainly be within his grasp. As it is, it's now only a question of short time when he graduates among the featherweights and there he's bound to lose out on his present luck of always drawing a foe or lighter poundage

SAME PLAN TO REPEAT.

The Armory A. A., as a result of Jim Coffey running out of his carded melee with "Hatting" Levinsky, promptly re-matched Britt and Shubert for next Tuesday night. They will make the same weight and if Britt repeats, which it looks as if he should do readily enough, unless Shubert proves that after a six months' layoff he needed last night's fight to tune him up, he has got to be generally accepted as the best little tigerlet in New England.

Mel Coogan, the lanky Brooklyn boy, put up a vastly improved performance over his last start, and clearly outstepped and outpointed Pete Hartley of the Leo P. Flynn stable, in the twelve-round semi-final.

Coogan was a wee mite too fast for Hartley all the way and had quite a peagy lead at the close. Hadfiit generally declared the Brooklyn boy the winner and Lis verdict was only proper.

Pat Owens, the promising Cambridge juvenile, kept on his winning streak by taking a tidy six-rounder from Joe Stanton. The latter did some good work himself in spots, but on the whole was outstepped by Owens. Jimmy Gardner of Quincy, retired in the fourth round of his set-to with Jimmy Murray of Roxbury.

Cox Gains Draw with Gunboat

New York, Oct. 4.—"Gunboat" Smith and Joe Cox of Springfield, Mo., struggled through ten rounds at the Broadway Sporting Club, Brooklyn, with honors even at the last bell.

Smith conceded considerable weight to the Western boxer, but, notwithstanding this, carried the fight to Cox in nearly every round. For the first three rounds Cox enjoyed an advantage. He employed a rapid style of left jabs which bewildered Smith. The next three rounds were even.

Smith used a left jab and right hook, which invariably landed on the Westerner, but the latter did not appear to be phased by Gunner's blows.

In the seventh round Smith decided on a different form of attack, and, in keeping close to his bigger opponent, ripped short left and right hooks to the body. This method proved more successful for the Gunner and he enjoyed a slight advantage in the last three rounds. Smith weighed 177 pounds and Cox 210.

McGraw Accuses Men

Scandal in Flag Race

It was a game which sport writers generally describe as a "farcical exhibition," and was won by the Brooklyn club. The score was 9 to 6. As the Philadelphia club lost two games to the Boston Braves in Philadelphia the Brooklyn victory gave the National League pennant to the Flatbush crew, and it will meet the Boston Red Sox in the World's Series.

After getting away to a three-run lead in the first inning, the Giants played poorly and listlessly, if not indifferently.

McGraw watched the proceedings for a time, then at the close of the fifth inning he arose from the bench of the Giants, assigned command of the club to Charley Herzog, their old captain, and marched off the field. He was bristling with indignation.

After the game, he met the New York baseball writers and gave out the statement which has caused a terrific sensation in the world of sport.

Ever since it became apparent that the National League pennant would depend largely upon the outcome of the series between the Giants and the Brooklyn club, while the Phillies and the Braves were tearing at each other, there has been a suggestion going around that the Giants might try to favor Brooklyn.

Just why is not clear, as the Giants and the Braves' chances of finishing third also depended on the two contests and it is understood that the Giants were to have received a bonus if they landed in that position; nevertheless, the suggestion has been abroad in the sporting land, and has been much discussed.

DIDN'T OBEY ORDERS.

"I do not believe that any of my players deliberately favored Brooklyn, but they did not play my kind of baseball, said McGraw. "They did not obey my orders. When Jeff took a windup with a man on first, permitting the runner to steal second guided by Harry Bruns, got second money.

"The 2:24 pace was won by Rich Hall. Ashbourne, another one of Bruns's stable, succeeded in sweeping the first two heats, but Rich Hall outpaced her in the remaining three. The winnings of Rich Hall were held up pending an investigation as to his eligibility.

HALL HORSES MAKE GOOD HAUL ON TRACK

Danbury, Ct., Oct. 4.—Hazel Hall, by Walnut Hall, driven by Fingerle Murphy, brother of Thomas Murphy, won the feature event at the Fair Grounds here this afternoon. Results: Hazel, guided by Harry Bruns, got second money.

The 2:24 pace was won by Rich Hall. Ashbourne, another one of Bruns's stable, succeeded in sweeping the first two heats, but Rich Hall outpaced her in the remaining three. The winnings of Rich Hall were held up pending an investigation as to his eligibility.

London, Oct. 4.—Jimmy Wilde, the English champion, and Young Zulu Kid of New York were matched today to box here for the world's flyweight championship. They will meet in December.

At the Empire A. C. Marty Cross is slated to trade wallops with Pal Doris. Two ten-round mixed bouts between Dave Kurtz and Dave Clark and Patsy Burns and Preston Brown, will be pulled off at the Harlem club.

At Brown's Far Rockaway Club the feature event will be between Young Eddie of Greenwich, Ct., and Jimmy Flynn of Long Island City.

LAST NIGHT IN THE RING.

Bethlehem, Pa., Oct. 4.—"Irish Peter" Cline, the New York lightweight, outpointed Young Mahoney in ten rounds. Mahoney was all but stopped in the ninth round.

Paris, Me., Oct. 4. Joe Eagan of South Boston and Earl Hess of Washington boxed a double six-rounder with honors even.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 4.—Gus Christie of Milwaukee conceded Battling Leonard an New York fifteen pounds and fought him to a draw.

A Girl and a Man

Agnes Receives a Letter From Mr. Pickens, and Mr. Bainbridge Begins a Campaign

By Virginia Terhune van de Water

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Copyright, 1916, Star Company.

When Agnes told of her good night on the evening that Hasbrook Bainbridge's roses arrived Miss Morley recollected something.

"Did you get the letter I sent the manuscript of?" she asked.

"What letter? Agnes began.

"Oh, dear! I—I—I've forgotten to—I—I—I—I apologize! I mailed it yesterday afternoon."

"All right. Agnes—"

She put out her hand and went back to the table where she was expecting to know from whom the epistle was. Letters were not a daily occurrence with her. She had, for a little, let herself hope that this one might be from Philip Hale, but a glance at the envelope showed her the Spencerian handwriting of Randolph Pickens.

It seemed a strange coincidence that, with this second gift of roses near her, she should receive a message from her discarded suitor. She thought swiftly of his poor little bunch of sweet peas.

"Dear Miss Morley," Randolph wrote, "while I understand the wisdom of your kind-yet-grieved decision on the occasion of my last call upon you, I have striven hard to take the liberty to ask if you will be so good as to reconsider the subject-matter of our last conversation and—[illegible] you do so. I promise not to trespass too frequently upon your generous nature, condemned as I am to [illegible].

ALWAYS AN INSPIRATION

"You have been to me an inspiration to me. I am a lonely man, and it would cast a ray of light across my pathway could I have the honor of your undivided [illegible]. I presume that pardon. Always faithfully yours, Randolph Pickens.

"Poor chap! [illegible] half smiled [illegible] he could her very, very [illegible] he may come to see [illegible] believe that [illegible] summon courage [illegible] mistake of [illegible] am sorry for [illegible] his offering me [illegible] while those great [illegible] were here. [illegible]

Her remembrance of the incident was distinct as she answered Mr. Pickens' letter.

"Certainly you may record me as your friend," she wrote, "and if it will give you any pleasure to [illegible] lessons, I will be glad to have you come."

"But I hope he will get some too often," she murmured as she laid the letter where she could be sure to see it and take it out to be posted tomorrow morning.

Returning to the sitting room, she bent over the roses. They were very beautiful, yet her heart beat no faster as she thought who had sent them. But she could not forget that Mr. Bainbridge was very kind to her, and that, just now, for [illegible] he would be relentless [illegible] before M. Hale [illegible]

"Good morning," he greeted her cheerily. "And how are you today? Better, I hope."

She [illegible] the girl said [illegible] hastily. "I want to thank you, Mr. Bainbridge, for the roses you sent me. They are wonderful—the first American Beauties I have seen this winter, and I would have [illegible] were I you, or I would [illegible] the box after them."

"Why—" [illegible]

She flushed as she remembered that she had actually fancied [illegible] had sent [illegible]

"I—I—don't know. I had no wish of [illegible] was glad there was no card with them."

"No?" he said. "I [illegible] into the box for I was a bit afraid you might disapprove of my sending you such a [illegible] flowers. I am glad you did not know the flowers came from me."

"Why?"

BAINBRIDGE PUZZLES HER

"Because," he explained, "I saw that you had presented the fair Miss [illegible] with a number of them. I had that [illegible] you were to [illegible] you would not have given [illegible] them away. Am I very presumptuous?"

He drew nearer as if he would lose her hand. She felt quite uncomfortable and withdrew a little.

"I don't know," she said. "Perhaps I would have done so, no matter who gave me [illegible]."

"I hope not," he returned softly, his eyes fixed steadily on her face. "I like to think that I would value me a little more [illegible] another and [illegible] for [illegible] for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

HARPER'S BAZAR HAS FIFTIETH BIRTHDAY

On every news-stand today is the Fiftieth Anniversary Number of Harper's Bazar. In size, beauty and interest the publishers of Harper's Bazar believe that this remarkable number sets an entirely new standard for all magazines that appeal to women of the better class.

The Harper's Bazar of today is the triumph of an idea. There are many magazines something like it in general appearance, but none which has had even half so long a career, and none which holds the same unique position in the hearts of American society.

Fifty years ago this Fall the four brothers, who then comprised the Harper publishing firm, were holding a highly important conference. Fletcher Harper had been abroad, had studied the celebrated foreign reviews of fashion and society, and now he wished to give the American public a magazine of the same luxurious kind.

It had never been done. The other Harper brothers maintained that it could not be done, feeling that Americans were too backward in culture and refinement to care for a society and fashion journal. The dispute lasted a long time. At last Fletcher Harper carried the day. Harper's Bazar was launched, and met immediately with an overwhelmingly favorable reception.

The October issue of Harper's Bazar, now ready, marks the fiftieth anniversary of this event. For sentimental reasons alone it is an issue that should appeal tremendously to every woman whose social and family traditions go back over a period of fifty years. Every one of this kind in America knows her Harper's Bazar just as she knows our other social landmarks.

INTERESTING SOCIETY FEATURES

But the Fiftieth Anniversary Number deserves to be read and preserved, not only on sentimental grounds, but for its own beauty and interest. From the front cover to the back it is spectacular—charming—pictorial. The frontispiece is a portrait of Queen Alexandra, immediately followed by fac-simile reproductions of the quaint old pages that appeared in the first issue fifty years ago. These will carry you back at once to the days when every belle of the '60s modelled her party frocks upon the fashions in Harper's Bazar.

Then come the special society features—exclusive views of the interior of the exclusive Colony Club, the most famous club for society women in the world, never before photographed for any magazine. There are splendid snapshots and portraits of society; exclusive photographs of Mr. George Gould's lovely Japanese gardens at Lakewood, and then follows the fiction, which deserves very special mention.

50 YEARS A LEADER.

As a very interesting editorial article on the early days of Harper's Bazar says, from its very start the magazine secured the best fiction it could buy. The first novel it published was by Charles Dickens; after him came George Eliot, Anthony Trollope, Sir Walter Besant, Henry James, Mary E. Wilkins, Mrs. Humphry Ward, W. J. Locke and many others among the great Victorian writers; with poems by Alfred Tennyson, and illustrations by Gustave Dore, Edwin A. Abbey, Thomas Nast, the great caricaturist, and many others.

That is the standard Harper's Bazar is maintaining today. In the Fiftieth Anniversary Number are the delightful serials "The Wonderful Year," by W. J. Locke (illustrated by Matania), and "Lady Ivonnie," by Mrs. Humphry Ward (illustrated by the celebrated society portraitist, Albert Sterner, of Newport). Then there are short stories by Elizabeth Frazer and Beulah Marie Dix, with illustrations of equal distinction.

The supremacy of Harper's Bazar in fashions is well exemplified in this number, with a signed contribution from Mme. Paquin, the great Paris dressmaker, and new models personally described by the four great originators—Lady Duff-Gordon, Henri Bendel, Hickson and Tappe, who contribute their original creations exclusively to Harper's Bazar, alone among all other magazines.

It has frequently been asserted by the Bazar's publishers that "it costs less to dress fashionably." Even a casual glance at the splendid models in this number bears out the truth of this statement, for they will guard any woman against buying unfashionable or unbecoming costumes.

"THE ROLL OF HONOR."

Finally, the advertisements in this great issue of Harper's Bazar are extraordinary both in number and interest. The publishers announce that no woman's magazine in America has ever contained so much advertising in a single issue. A most striking feature is the "Roll of Honor"—two pages in the front section, where are attractively displayed the names of sixty-five firms advertising in this issue that, like Harper's Bazar itself, can look back upon a half century or more of success.

The list is a monument to American mercantile industry. It includes the name of virtually every distinguished older merchant in this country. Reading it rapidly, one notes Altman, Alexander, Brentano's, Brooks Brothers, Cammeyer, Mark Cross, Dean's, Fisk tires, Flint & Horner, Gage hats, Gebruder Moser, Gimbel, Gorham, Gunther's, L. P. Hollander, H. Jaeckel, Loyd & Taylor, McCreery, McCutcheon, Maillard, Ovington, Redfern, Read & Barton, Revillon Freres, Slater shoes, W. & J. Sloane, Steinway pianos, Stern Brothers, Tiffany, Walpole Brothers and a host of others.

The Fiftieth Anniversary Number is, from every standpoint, the biggest twenty-five cents' worth ever put upon the news-stands of America, and the greatest bargain any woman of taste can possibly buy for that sum—or for a much larger sum.

PACKERS TO GET WAGE INCREASE

The report from Chicago that the big meat packing houses had increased wages could not be confirmed at the Boston offices of the companies. "The good news has not reached us in the official form and we know nothing of the details," is the answer made to inquiries at the office of Swift & Company, in the market district.

It is estimated that at least 2,000 people are employed in Boston by the big packing houses.

"Whatever enables us to go to war secures our peace."—THOMAS JEFFERSON.

TRUTH, JUSTICE BOSTON AMERICAN EDITORIAL PAGE PUBLIC SERVICE

Wednesday, October 4, 1916

Will They Dare to Array Catholics Against Non-Catholics; Liquor Men Against Prohibitionists; Suffragists Against Anti-Suffragists and Brother Against Brother?

LAST week they had a meeting at the Quincy House of those who propose to devote themselves to the advancement of the Initiative and Referendum as a constitutional amendment, to give the people of this State greater control of their government and to end misrepresentation by their alleged representatives. Ex-Governor Walsh made an address full of interesting matter.

The other day the AMERICAN quoted one of the experiences he related at this meeting as a result of which tax dodgers succeeded in their conspiracy to make tax dodging legal through the misrepresentation of our alleged representatives in the Legislature.

During the course of his remarks, Mr. Walsh warned the people of the State of the kind of opposition which they might expect against the Initiative and Referendum. Everybody ought to read what ex-Governor Walsh said, for he spoke the truth without any varnish. We quote him:

"We must expect every kind of un-American and despicable secret argument and special plea to the selfishness of special classes and special interests by those who are opposing the Initiative and Referendum.

"The liquor interests will be told that if we get the Initiative and Referendum the Prohibitionists will carry the State against them.

"The Prohibitionists will be told that if we have the Initiative and Referendum the liquor interests will organize and extend their power.

"The Catholics will be told that if we have the Initiative and Referendum the A. P. A.'s—if there are such—will deprive them of equality before the law.

"The bigoted non-Catholics, if there are such in this State, will be told that the Initiative and Referendum will give the Catholic people increased power.

"All these stories, inconsistent as they are, will be told secretly to the different opposing interests, by paid agents and special eleventh-hour circulars sent too late to be contradicted, and too late to have their inconsistent and opposite statements opposed.

"There is no length to which men who ought to know better will not go in opposing this great reform, if they are opposed to it because they are tories, or if they really represent great special interests which are thriving under the present state of misrepresentation by our legislators.

"You would think that the head of our great university at Harvard would be above an argument like one of these, yet President Lowell of Harvard caused to be urged upon me, whom he knew to be a loyal Catholic, against the Initiative and Referendum, that, if we had it, the bigoted non-Catholics would use it to restrict the rights of Catholics in this State.

"I replied that I was not afraid that any Catholic rights would suffer at the hands of any majority in the Commonwealth; that a majority of the American people never were bigoted, and never forget their Americanism; that the real trouble lay in the little cliques and conspiracies under our present misrepresentative government; that under present conditions every kind of irrelevant consideration prevented us from deciding questions on their merits.

"From Maine to California we have the Initiative and Referendum, in scattered States, and I defy anyone to point to a single instance where any legitimate interest has suffered, any legitimate right has been abridged, or any illegitimate passion has dominated the action of the voters."

Setting the Clock Ahead to Make Life Happier

A NUMBER of the ablest and most thoughtful of our business men in the Boston Chamber of Commerce and elsewhere are advocating a change in the schedule of the work-day in order to conform somewhat roughly to the change in the schedule of the rising sun.

In Europe, under the warlike necessity of achieving the highest efficiency, they have adopted this policy. In some of the cities of the Middle West, where competition is very keen and progressiveness and far-sightedness are notable, they have adopted and are practicing the great advantages of this reform.

The argument for it is that it will give us during the lengthening days an earlier hour at which to suspend our work for the day and thus prolong the daylight in which to enjoy the fine weather. The practice in England has enabled the people to enjoy the increased daylight hours of recreation after their work equal to seventeen whole holidays.

There is an old, old saying, with all the truth and common sense of so many of our old sayings. It is that "The hours before noon for work, the hours before midnight for sleep."

Modern medical science confirms the truth of this saying of our forefathers. Investigation has shown that the morning work is the most efficient and the sleep which we obtain during the dark hours, particularly before midnight, is the most refreshing and recuperating sleep, and that as the day dawns, the increasing light, although not wholly awakening our consciousness, yet disturbs the soundness of our sleep. It is less restful and it grows less restful as the light increases. During the long days of Spring and Summer the sun is with almost full power pouring upon our eyelids by five o'clock.

Thus, from the point of view of more hours for play and more hours for the most restful sleep, the new idea of advancing the clock during the long days seems sound.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

What Always Happens

"WHAT'S this? Six cents a loaf for bread?" the wrathful public cries,
"This outrage fills our honest souls with horror and surprise.
We will not stand for it, not we! There's such a thing as law!
Our hard-earned savings shall not feed the Bread Trust's hungry maw.
We will not be imposed upon. That's not the way we're gaited.
These predatory pilferers shall be investigated."

And lo! a solemn body is appointed by the courts,
To sift the subject to the dregs, and presently reports:
After due investigation we have found that bread costs more
At the baker's and the grocer's than it ever did before.

"GEE WHIZ! So milk is up a cent," the sovereign people shout.
"That's nothing short of larceny and we will find it out.
No trust shall corner all the cows this side of Bangor, Maine,
And not be brought before the Bar and ordered to explain!
For just such wicked plunderers our statutes were created.
This latest piece of robbery shall be investigated."

And lo! the proper persons, by authority of law,
Investigate the price of milk, and these conclusions draw:
After due investigation, which has gone extremely deep,
We deem it proper to report that milk is not so cheap.

Some More Popular Delusions About Meat

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects

PART ONE

MEAT is the one perfect and complete food, containing all the elements needed for human nutrition in the proper proportions, and the only one upon which life can be supported alone for indefinite periods.

Infants can live exclusively upon milk, which is liquid meat, but adults cannot and retain good working condition and strength. Milk for babes, meat for strong men, happens to be true, though it is a proverb, and this has been amply proven by tests.

So far, so bad, for the meat-dreaders. One by one, one after another, all the eating-too-much-meat diseases have been surely discovered and proven to be due to germs of different kinds, and to have nothing whatever to do with diet, except that most of them are made worse by underfeeding and better by liberal feeding, and, of course, would be aggravated by dietetic errors or excesses of any sort.

Gout and rheumatism, for instance, instead of being the special penalty of high living and rich feeding, flourish most abundantly and fiercely among the poor and underfed, who often see meat only once a week.

Both are due to plain pus-bugs (streptococci) which burrow and "dem-up" in robbers' caves about the roots of decaying teeth and the pockets of diseased tonsils or the cavities of the nasal passage in neglected catarrh, and from there sally forth to poison the joints and the bones and the kidneys and the arteries. Most Bright's disease and paralysis are after-effects, long-distance hangovers, of the infections of childhood and the fevers of youth, diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, typhoid, tuberculosis and syphilis.

But one loophole was left. Perhaps these infections were aggravated by too much meat. Eagerly the traditionalists turned to it, only to find it blocked, shut in their faces. For hundreds of careful laboratory experiments showed unanimously that almost every experimental animal or bird could be rendered more resistant to any infection by feeding liberally with meat, either solid or liquid. In fact many could be immunized completely against them by a meat diet, while, on the contrary, not a few animals which were naturally resistant to a disease could be made susceptible to it by starving them.

In-Shoots

A beautiful woman with brains is a dangerous proposition; but few have 'em.

There is nothing that will get one over hell's highway quicker than a joy ride.

The yell of approval from the bleachers is not the kind of glory that is lasting.

An attorney can be equipped with endless points of law and still not win many cases.

While the girl scout is scouting around the quiet maid generally lands the husband.

The husband of a great woman always has trouble in keeping up with the procession.

The Glories of the Universe Are Swinging Into View

Garrett P. Serviss Advises All to Study the Heavens as Fall Comes On

By Garrett P. Serviss

NOW, turn your eyes to the heavens and acquaint yourself with the watches of the night, for with the first cooling breath of Autumn begin to come the heralds and the vancouriers of the great stellar procession that grows monthly in numbers and in splendor until it culminates in the arrival of the Pleiades, the Hyades, Taurus, Orion, Sirius and the magic ship Argo, pointing its golden prow out of the glowing "Chambers of the South." Then, over the whitened fields of the wintry North, the skies will be all asparkle with splintering gems of starry light, and the greatest sunjewels of the universe will be on exhibition before the insect eyes of little man, riding agape on his toy globe, a mote lost in immensity.

I was up late the other night and saw the head of the procession sparkling over the eastern horizon, and, thrilled at the sight, as does the wonder-worshipping boy at the theatre when the curtain begins to rise and a line of silken feet, glimmering behind the hoods of the footlights, gives foretaste of an ecstatic hour in Elysium. Sometimes facts and figures become impertinences before the face of nature's marvels. There are moods in which Orion seems infinitely greater than the most incredible statistics that astronomers have collected concerning his stars. To say in the glowing presence of that giant of the firmament that his star Rigel is as bright as 10,000 suns, that his star Betelgeuse has a spectrum of the third class, which probably means approaching extinction, and that his immortal belt is composed of "B-type" stars, is like evaluating the gems and lace on a coronation robe. Orion is steeped in the glory of the universe, which neither mathematics nor spectroscopy can compass nor express.

There is a piece of advice that I want to offer to whomsoever will accept it. I have offered it often before, and the worst that has happened is, as far as I know, has been to be disregarded. Whenever I have found that it was accepted I have felt that I might at least escape the condemnation that fell upon the third servant in the parable of the talents. If your capital is in money or in knowledge the way to make it thrive is to put it out. The advice, then, is this: Don't let another month pass without learning "the geography of the heavens." Know the orbs around you. Know the constellations. Know also the great stars—Sirius, Aldebaran, Rigel, Betelgeuse, Capella, Spica, Procyon, Canopus, Vega, Altair, Arcturus, Regulus, Antares, Fomalhaut, and, above all, the North Star, Polaris, which will be your pharos wherever on the world's wide northern face you may find yourself. Make acquaintance with the earth's sisters and brothers, the planets.

This knowledge is easy of acquirement. There are many guidebooks leading to it; I have prepared some myself, both as a duty and a pleasure. But the best help of all is a planisphere or star-finder. With that you can look both ahead and behind, for you can set it to show the heavens at any date in the year; for instance, as they will appear on any night in the past. With a planet-plotting device, accompanied by a simple table of places, you can recognize any planet by its position among the stars at the time of observation and locate and become your own almanac as well as an astronomical oracle for your friends. This is not an advertisement, and all of Mr. Carnegie's money couldn't buy it, and a mountain of gold would be a heap of dross in comparison with the treasure that anybody with an open mind can accumulate by taking this way to the stars.

What is that star that glows so lonely-bright, low in the southeast these early Autumn evenings, like a light on a distant coast? It is Fomalhaut. The sailor knows it, and you may read much about it in the astronomy books. Have you seen Alpherat, Scheat, Markab, and Algenib, spreading out the great square of Pegasus, east of the meridian? You ought to look at them; you ought to know them. What names they have, like the names of angels! Have you observed chained Andromeda, striving to flee toward the zenith, in terror of the ever-approaching sea monster, while her starry mother, Cassiopeia, looks despairingly toward her from her chair in the Milky Way, and neither of them sees the coming rescuer, Perseus, with his diamond-hilted sword, hurrying up from the northeast, until:

"Like peal of thunder from uncloudèd sky,
A sudden neighing rolls and echoes nigh.
Her eyes unclose; horror and joy are one,
For she beholds, in whirling flight and free,
The winged horse, upbearing Zeus' son,
Throw his vast shade of azure on the sea."

These things are there, and have been there ever since Greek mythology was blazoned in stars. Or do you know what that light that looks like a calm superstar, south of Andromeda and Perseus, is? That is only the planet Jupiter, the slave of a real star, though a thousand times as big as the earth.

The New Way

By Percy Shaw

A hospital ship is to be sent to the Moros with the hope that medical treatment will help them toward civilization.—News item.

WHEN a ringed and painted Moro wriggles through the white man's grain
With a bolo in his fingers and destruction in his brain,
Let the alien hail him thusly—"Little brother of the soil,
May I quench your thirst for slaughter with a quart of castor oil?"

When a chief of Mindanao meets a son of U. S. A.
Lolling underneath a palm tree in the swelter of the day
Let the alien greet him thusly—"Gentle cousin of the hills,
May I soothe your frantic frenzy with some paregoric pills?"

When a warrior of Luzon springs like Phoenix from the ground
And with half a dozen hunters rings the lone Caucasian round,
Let the alien hail them thusly—"Let me tame your corps d'esprit
With some ipecac and crackers and a cup of quinine tea!"
